Doug Fairbanks Dies of Heart Attack

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY AS ACTOR SLEEPS

Pet Bulldog Gives Alarm in Early Morning Hours; Wife Prostrated at News.

SCREEN HERO WAS 55

Illness Believed Minor by Kin; Hollywood Shocked at End of Picture Star.

(By United Press)

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—Douglas Fairbanks, greatest of all the silent screen heroes, died suddenly early today of a heart attack in his fog-shrouded Santa Monica home. He was 55.

He succumbed so unexpectedly that his beautiful wife, the former Lady Sylvia Ashley, was prostrated. Mary Pickford, his former wife, wept, when she was notified.

His son, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., rushed to the death scene on the shore of the Pacific. So did Fairbanks' brother, Robert.

Mrs. Fairbanks, too shocked to speak even to her relatives, was placed under the care of a physician. Doug, jr., remained silent, while Doug's pet bulldog, Marco Polo, was a problem.

The animal had been sleeping at Doug's bedside and awakened the family by barking when his master died. Hours later the animal remained by the bed refusing to be removed.

Friends of the family arranged tentatively to remove the body to Forest Lawn cemetery, last resting place of other movie notables.

Yesterday the Robin Hood and the Don Juan of the old time movies and the man who turned fence-jumping and balcony leaping into a profession, suffered what seemed to be a minor heart attack.

"It was about 10 o'clock in the morning," reported his sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Fairbanks. His wife called his physician, who did not believe it was serious.

"Last night we phoned his home and his wife said he was resting quietly and very comfortably. He seemed as gay and as happy as ever. There was a nurse in attendance, as a precautionary measure, and we went to sleep unworried."

Hollywood Shocked.

Death of Fairbanks came as a shock to all Hollywood, which had regarded him as the one star who never seemed to grow older and who remained as perfectly muscled as when he went to work for D. W.

ITALY TALKS UP

Demand for Free Passage in Mediterranean Sounded.

ROME—(U.P.)—Italy must have a free passage from the Mediterranean to insure its independence and colonies in which its increasing population may live, and Premier Benito Mussolini has sufficient force to impose his rights, Virginio Gayda, editor regarded as a mouthpiece for the foreign office, said today in a national radio speech.

It was not known whether the speech marked the opening of a new campaign for fulfillment, largely at France's expense, of Italy's broad program of "aspirations."

Additional interest attached to the speech, however, because the Fascist legislative body meets Thursday and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's foreign minister and son-in-law, is expected to make an important speech on policy before it.

Fairbanks Dies

Barking of Douglas Fairbanks' pet bulldog announced to the veteran screen actor's startled family early today the death of the 55-year-old hero of scores of adventure films. Fairbanks died in his sleep at 1 a. m. after suffering a heart attack yesterday which was believed to have been only minor by doctors and his relatives.

TRIO CAPTURED IN 20 MINUTES

Brief Freedom Costs O. S. R. Trusties Two Years Each; Fourth Escapes Today.

Twenty minutes of freedom last night cost three Mansfield reformatory inmates two more years on their sentences after the trio fled from the farm dormitory outside the walls of the institution.

They fled at 5:10 p. m. and were captured 20 minutes later by a posse of guards led by Supt. Arthur L. Glattke in a wooded section a short distance north of the reformatory on the institution grounds. They offered no resistance. The customary penalty of two years will be added to their sentences for their escape attempt, Glattke said.

Larry Fallon, 27, of Cuyahoga county, one of the trio, was to be released next April 1. He was paroled recently. He entered the reformatory April 9, 1937, to serve a 10-to-25 year term for robbery.

Others in the group who were captured after their brief freedom were William Baker, 19, Warren county, serving one to 20 years for auto theft, and Harold DeCamp, 29, Fayette county, received Dec. 19, 1932, to serve a 10-to-25-year term for robbery.

A fourth inmate, Harold Sheets, 19, Highland county, who escaped today did a better job of it and was still at large at noon. He was working in a field at the institution and was reported missing at 10 a. m. A posse continued to search for him.

Sheets entered the reformatory April 22, 1939, and was serving one to seven years for reciving stolen property.

BRITISH VICTORS

Repulse Nazi Patrols In One of First Engagements.

PARIS—(INS)—In one of their first engagements on the western front, British troops hurled back three German patrols today, inflicting heavy losses on the Nazis while losing none themselves.

Advices received in Paris said the British "Tommies" used only hand grenades in repulsing the German sorties. The action took place south of Buschdorf.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Former Mayor Lantz In Critical Condition At His Home.

Charles M. Lantz, former mayor of Mansfield, was reported in a serious condition today at his home, 205 Marion avenue.

The former city official has been in ill health ever since he left public office in January, 1936, and has been confined to his bed for several months with complications, members of his family said.

DEATH CALLED SUICIDE

NEWPORT, Ky.—(U.P.)—A coroner's jury formally recorded as a suicide today the death of Christian A. Glutz, 44, a Cincinnati merchant, whose body was found in the Ohio river several days ago.

FOOD ASSURED FOR RELIEFERS IN CLEVELAND

Ickes Claims Bricker Chooses Starvation Risk to Wrecking Balanced Budget Plans.

GOVERNOR HITS BACK

Says New Deal Plays Politics; Notes on Delinquent Taxes, WPA Helps Needy.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—Cleveland's 1939 relief troubles apparently were solved today by city-federal action, but the Ohio situation remained in the national spotlight as Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Gov. John W. Bricker clashed again over the state's attitude.

Ickes said in a speech at Newark, N. J., that Gov. Bricker "deliberately chose to risk starvation rather than spoil his own selfish plan for a budget-balancing record in his own state." He charged Bricker wants the record "as a candidate for president of the Republican tickett."

In a statement issued at Columbus the governor replied by accusing New Dealers of "playing politics with human misery."

"The violent and irresponsible demagogic utterances of Secretary Ickes no longer mislead the people," Bricker declared. "There has been no starvation in Cleveland, no neglect of relief in Ohio. . . Ickes is simply endeavoring to smear the good name of Ohio for a third term ballyhoo."

Earlier the governor, who refused pleas from several Ohio cities for a special session of the legislature, observed "all blasts against us" have come from New Dealers. He referred to Ickes, President Roosevelt and Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York.

This city's 65,000 needy, on short rations for 26 days, will be restored to "full relief" Friday as a result of council's authorization of $1,050,000 in tax delinquency notes and increased WPA activity.

WPA Jobs Approved.

Council sanctioned the notes after its session had been interrupted by a demonstration of sign-carrying Clevelanders who described themselves as relief clients. Some

O. S. U. Trustees Meet Again Jan. 8 to Name President.

Failing to select a president of Ohio State university yesterday, the university board of trustees is scheduled to meet again Jan. 8 to choose a successor to Dr. George W. Rightmire who resigned.

Dr. R. E. Tulloss, former pastor of the First Lutheran church, Mansfield, and president of Wittenberg college at Springfield, is among the four candidates still in the running for the presidency, a dispatch from Columbus said.

The university's has been without a permanent president for 18 months.

Trustees yesterday were assured co-operation of alumni and faculty in their search for an educational leader. Committees for both groups told the trustees that there was no "pressure" upon them to hasten the appointment. They urged the board to take more time and assure the university of a suitable president.

Cranes Lift Freight Cars After Erie Derailment

11 CARS OF ERIE TRAIN DERAILED

Traffic Over Line Through City Delayed Six Hours by Mishap 5 Miles North.

Traffic over the Erie railroad through Mansfield was delayed for six hours this morning by the derailment of 11 cars of a 76-car freight train, about five miles northeast of the city.

The westbound train struck a broken rail, according to officials of the railroad's police department, who were called to the scene.

The engine and a number of cars passed over the broken rail without trouble, they said. The 11 cars derailed were near the end of the train.

The accident occurred about 4:10 a. m. Within a short time, a wrecking train was on the scene, and by 10 a. m., the derailed cars were back on the track and the train was ready to move.

Both eastbound and westbound traffic was delayed by the wreck, since the wrecker was on the eastbound tracks.

One Erie passenger train, No. 8 eastbound, was rerouted around Mansfield from Galion. Due here at 5:18, the train was routed over the Big Four tracks at Galion to Greenwich, thence over the B. and O. to Stirling, near Akron, where it returned to the Erie system.

None of the trainmen on the freight was injured and none of the derailed cars seriously damaged, it was said.

Calls Council To Consider State's New Grade Offer

City council will be called into special session either tomorrow or Thursday to consider the state highway department's latest financing plan on the proposed route 30-N grade separation project, Mayor Claude M. Hunter said today.

The state's new offer, made last week, boosts the city's contribution to the half million dollar program on West Fourth street road, to $30,000, an increase of $8,500 over the amount the city originally had agreed to give.

Hunter said he would recommend that council accept the state's offer to pay $13,000 toward the paving cost of the project but that the present proposal to have the city meet 85 per cent of all right-of-way and property damage costs be limited to $17,000.

He added that although highway engineers had estimated the right-of-way costs at $20,000, it might run much higher and that his plan was to set a maximum on what the city would pay.

At a meeting of council's street and finance committees and county commissioners yesterday, Hunter said he would ask the state to make its request to the city more specific, showing how much will be needed for right-of-way expenses.

Foremen Told There's No Hope For Lasting Peace In Europe

There can be no hope for perpetual world peace as long as Europe exists, for no war or alliance will give assurance that European nations will not double-cross each other, George C. A. Hantelman, widely known lecturer and authority on European politics, told the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club last night.

"We need have no qualms about not going to the aid of England, France or any other European nation in war times, because the history of Europe is full of double-crosses and unkept promises," Hantelman said.

He spoke to about 200 club members at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. His topic was "Spotlighting European Diplomacy."

Hantelman, whose home is in Akron, spent five years traveling and studying Europe. He has given more than 1,000 lectures in recent years before clubs and organizations in 40 states.

Asserting that "there is no honor between European nations so far as treaties and pacts are concerned," Hantelman went ahead to point out a number of instances since the World war in which promises were violated.

"Watch Italy during the next 15 months and you will see a repetition of what happened in the World war," he advised. "Italy stayed out then for a time and Trucker, Said to Be Mansfield Man, Killed in Mountains.

Vern Mabis, 26, said to be from Mansfield, was killed last night when a truck and trailer failed to negotiate a mountain curve near Altoona, Pa., a press dispatch said today.

Mabis, however, was not listed in the city directory nor telephone book and trucking firms here said he was not employed by them.

Mabis was believed to have been a relief driver. He was riding with Luther Owens, 26, of Payne, O., who suffered a fractured skull when the truck, carrying a 10-ton cargo, got out of control, hit a tree, and went over an embankment for a distance of 150 feet.

The truck and trailer, loaded with miscellaneous merchandise, were demolished, the dispatch said.

'Finnish Fan to Finish' Helps Send Relief Fund Area Up At Faster Pace

Contributions Double In Single Day; Total Now Near $100 Mark.

THE "Finnish Fan To The Finish" who contributed $5 to the Finnish Relief Fund, Inc., today probably summed up the general feeling in and around Mansfield on the entire matter in the brief note which accompanied his—or her—anonymous gift, and which boosted the total of the fund here to date to $84.17.

A $5 bill from Loudonville was accompanied by a note expressing the sentiments of the giver: "Please find a 'fiver' for the Finnish Relief Fund. More power to the only debt-honoring nation in Europe—may she clip the claws of the Big Red Beast. T'ell with Stalin, sez I. A Finnish Fan To The Finish."

In 24 hours the sum was doubled, for yesterday's report on contributions was $40, while today's was $44.17.

The attitude of the contributors is exemplified in W. C. Stewart, 323 West Third street, who is 88 years old, and was unable to bring his contribution to The News-Journal office, but sent it in. "I want to help the Finns," he said simply.

Among the contributors were persons from all walks of life and the amounts they gave varied from $5 to a few pennies.

Today Herbert Hoover, chairman of the Fund, announced in New York that he would appeal to the governor of every state and the mayor of every city to

Deadline Nears For Answer To Mediation Offer

Reds Expected To Resign Rather Than Face Expulsion; New Offensives Seen As Possible Result of Geneva Demand For Mediation.

BULLETIN

GENEVA—(INS)—Deadline for an armistice in the Russo-Finnish war passed at noon, New York time, today and still no word flashed from the League of Nations that the Soviets even deigned to reply.

BULLETIN

GENEVA—(AP)—Reports circulated in League of Nations circles today that France would break diplomatic relations with Russia and close the Soviet embassy in Paris if the league expels Russia in condemnation of her invasion of Finland.

Soviet Russia appeared ready today to walk out of the League of Nations and to redouble the offensive of Red armed forces against Finland.

Dispatches from both Geneva and Moscow indicated the probable result of a league decision giving the Soviets until this afternoon to order withdrawal of the Red army from Finnish soil and enter into peaceful negotiations for a settlement on the basis of Finland's appeal to the world for aid, according to United Press and Associated Press reports.

Although the Russian government made no comment, it was believed that the Soviet Union would follow the example of Japan, Italy and Germany in abandoning the league and ignoring any decision by the assembly to condemn the Red army as an aggressor or to expel Moscow from the Geneva sessions.

Meanwhile, the Russian offensive appeared to be more and more threatening on the central Finnish front, where the Red army has been attempting to cut across the middle of Finland to the Swedish frontier and the Gulf of Bothnia.

Although in Geneva diplomatic circles Russia's expulsion from the league was regarded as unlikely because the league covenant requires a unanimous vote by the council, the possibility of mere condemnation by a majority of the assembly was believed sufficient grounds for Russia's resignation.

Members of the Soviet delegation said Russia would resign "rather than submit to the indignity of expulsion."

Finnish delegates proceeded with obvious skepticism that Russia would accept the "last chance" offer to mediate their dispute and busily campaigned for promises of war supplies.

With the reservation there was a faint chance that Moscow might accept mediation, Britain was re-

NEW TACTICS: Reds Press 2 Campaigns To Conquer Finland

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—The Red invaders of Finland, operating from dearly-won footholds 40 miles within the border, pressed today two separate campaigns, either one of which—if completed—might bring Finland to her knees.

The newer of these parallel offensives took shape along the icy shore of Lake Ladoga and in the lake-dotted country to the north, where numerically superior Soviet Russian forces were bent on rounding the northern part of Lake Ladoga to outflank the stubborn defenders of the Karelian isthmus.

Twelve days of attack by planes, tanks, artillery and infantry had failed to crack the isthmus defenses between Lake Ladoga and the Gulf of Finland—the Mannerheim line—according to the Finnish command, and the Russian strategists may have decided a flanking maneuver held the greater chance of success.

A Finnish communique told of withdrawal yesterday from Pitkaranta, a railway terminus 40 miles within Finland on the Ladoga shore, permitting Russian occupation of the town.

The captors of Pitkaranta were only part of the fanned-out forces

BREMEN: British Claim Sub Spared Liner, Cite Rule Of War

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(AP)—German naval authorities said that they expected the big luxury liner Bremen to dock at some German port, presumably Bremerhaven, this afternoon or evening.

(By United Press)

LONDON—The admiralty in a statement today said the $20,000,000 German luxury liner Bremen, en route from the Russian Arctic coast toward Germany had been spared by a British submarine because it would have been contrary to the rules of warfare to torpedo the ship without warning.

The admiralty's brief and indefinite communique said the Bremen was sighted by the British submarine en route to a home port, which reliable sources said meant that the big liner was making its way from Murmansk on the Arctic coast of Russia toward a German port.

The submarine could have fired a torpedo, since the Bremen was in range, according to the statement, but it refrained from doing so because it had no opportunity to give the required warning.

The Bremen is a speedy passenger ship and probably could make twice as many knots as a submarine, so that the underwater craft could easily have been out-distanced.

The Bremen fled from New York harbor Aug. 30, four days before the outbreak of war between Britain and Germany. After an adventurous journey at high speed across the North Atlantic the big ship safely reached the Soviet Russian Arctic port of Murmansk, where she was reported seen later by several different informants.

Except for occasional reports that she was tied up off Murmansk, nothing definite was heard of the big ship until today when the admiralty issued this announcement:

"A British submarine reported the German liner Bremen passed her within torpedo range, homeward bound.

"The submarine was of course precluded by the rules of sea warfare from torpedoing the Bremen without warning."

State Plans Extensive Fight to Keep Highways Open

MAPS 24-HOUR PROGRAM TO AID TRAFFIC

Highway Department, Patrol to Join in Keeping Roads Clear During Winter.

A comprehensive program to keep Ohio highways open during the winter season has been developed by the state highway department and the highway patrol, Mansfield police were informed today.

Richland county along with other counties in the state will maintain 24-hour service both to report emergency highway conditions in this area and to order out maintenance forces and snow removal equipment when conditions warrant.

Equipment has been strategically located throughout the county so that quick connections can be made with all important highways. Report centers are located at Mansfield, Bellville, Butler, Shelby and Plymouth.

Highways Classified.

All the main highways in the state have been classified under "A" and are designated as "priority roads." Other highways are listed in the order of importance as to travel, the highway department said.

This means that within two or three hours after a severe storm, "priority roads" will be re-opened to traffic as all available equipment in the area will be immediately put into operation on those routes, the announcement added.

The "priority road" in the Mansfield district is U. S. route 42 through Richland county. Class "B" highways are U. S. route 30 east of Mansfield and U. S. route 30-N, to which the equipment is moved as soon as the "A" roads are cleared. Class "C" roads are then opened. They include route 13 and U. S. route 30-S.

The state highway patrol will have two regular broadcasts daily describing road conditions in this district. One will be at noon and the other at 7 p. m. When an emergency exists there will also be an 8 a. m. broadcast giving those roads that are impassable or unsafe for travel, the patrol said.

Clears Police In Beating Charge; Accuser In Jail

ELYRIA, O. — A Lorain man who instigated an investigation of alleged brutality in the Lorain police department remained in county jail today, under a burglary indictment returned by a grand jury which cleared police in a one-day special session.

Assistant Prosecutor William G. Wickens reported to Common Pleas Judge D. A. Cook 14 witnesses testifying before the grand jury offered no evidence to support allegations of Gerald Donovan, 28, that Lorain police mistreated him.

The jury's only action was against Donovan, indicting him on a charge of breaking and entering a Lorain radio shop Nov. 22.

Sheriff Carl R. Finegan said Donovan, transferred Nov. 28 to county jail here from Lorain, complained his jaw was swollen because two Lorain policemen struck him to obtain a confession.

Dr. John L. Sullivan, jail physician, reported Donovan's jaw was swollen when he was committed.

MT. VERNON MAN FINED

BELLVILLE — Arraigned here yesterday morning before Mayor Thomas R. Zeigler on charges of driving with insufficient brakes, Floren H. Carr, R. D. 1, Mt. Up and Down THE STREET

Christmas greetings from Brazil were received here today by members of the Y. M. C. A. staff from two Mansfielders and "Y" members who are spending the winter in that country on a theater tour. The cards were from Ray Turner and Trentis Barney who are now appearing at a club in Rio de Janeiro. Their southern trip was arranged after a proposed European tour was called off due to the war.

It may be a bit wintry today, but folks north of town have had proof of the spring-like temperatures of the past week. Mrs. William Kirk, who lives on the Ganges road, off the North Main street road, produced a sprig of budding bridal wreath today as proof of the balminess of the weather. Gooseberry vines and cherry trees in her yard also were starting to bud, she reported.

It was pretty embarrassing the other night for a city bus driver when he got lost on his way back to town from the end of the line. Admitting that he "must have been thinking about something else," he turned down the wrong street and didn't recognize his mistakes until the landmarks began to look unfamiliar. Hesitatingly, he told a fellow driver about it. "You're not the only one who did that," was the reply. "I missed the street myself a couple of nights ago." Both are veteran drivers; but the route was changed recently.

Golfers are a hardy lot. This winter again Mansfield club swingers are attempting to play right through the cold season, and, as usual, the heartiest of the lot is Harry Schlegel of the city engineering department. The days that Schlegel has missed on the course since the greens were roped off can be counted on one hand. Another golfer, who has been convinced by Schlegel that the golfing's fine this winter is E. M. Eichin, Western avenue.

GRANGE SEEKS 'UNITED FRONT'

Taber Asks Industry, Labor to Cooperate in Meeting Coming Issues.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—An appeal for cooperation among labor, industry and agriculture to meet national problems which might arise from the European war today keynoted the opening sessions of the 67th annual convention of the Ohio State Grange.

Louis J. Taber, national grange master, declared a united front of all individuals, groups and classes was needed to protect American rural life against "fierce economic competition" when peace is reestablished and European nations resume normal commerce.

Representatives of labor and industry will have an opportunity to present their views before the close of the convention Thursday. Scheduled speakers included Thomas J. Donnelly, Ohio Federation of Labor secretary, and Karl Dixon of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Controversial taxation, relief, highway and educational problems were due for consideration Thursday.

Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland was expected to touch upon relief matters today in an address scheduled to follow speeches by Walter F. Kirk, state grange master, and Harry A. Caton of Coshocton, national grange secretary.

Gov. John W. Bricker will be banquet speaker Wednesday night.

Grange officers estimated that 3,000 Ohio farmers would attend the three-day convention, which includes separate meetings of the Deputy Masters association, youth leaders and farm lecturers.

Visiting grange women will be guests of Mrs. Bricker at a reception and tea in the executive mansion tomorrow.

CITY OFFICIAL RESIGNS

SPRINGFIELD, O.—(U.P.)— Fred N. Carpenter, Springfield city solicitor since 1936, has resigned, effective Friday, to resume private law practice.

REPUBLICAN WHO BUCKED PARTY ASKS OHIO SUPREME COURT JOB

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Announcement of Gilbert Bettman's candidacy for the Ohio supreme court opened afresh today the question of the Republican party standing of Judge Arthur H. Day of Cleveland, who is expected to seek re-election.

Judge Day came into ill repute with the Republican state organization during the heat of the election campaign last year. After being defeated for the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination by Robert A. Taft, Day announced support for Democratic Senator Robert J. Bulkley for re-election.

Organization Republicans turned thumbs down on Judge Day and gossip has persisted that he would have opposition for renomination. Bettman, former Ohio attorney general, declined to divulge at Cincinnati, however, whether he intended to oppose Judge Day or seek the nomination for the term now being filled by Judge Charles B. Zimmerman of Springfield, a Democrat.

Two supreme court judges are to be nominated at the May primary, one for a term commencing on Jan. 1, 1941, and one for a term beginning on Jan. 2. Neither Day nor Zimmerman has stated which term he will seek. Their present terms expire at the same time, midnight Dec. 31. The law setting separate dates for commencement of the six-year terms and thereby requiring candidates to seek specific terms was enacted in 1938.

Prior to 1938, the terms of all supreme court judges started on Jan. 1 of odd-numbered years. Consequently candidates merely ran for supreme court judge and the two highest were elected.

Rumors have been current for some time that Bettman would seek nomination to the term selected by Judge Day. Republican leaders here interpreted Bettman's failure to designate the term he would seek to mean he would not do so at this time as Day himself has announced no decision.

DIES AT AGE 73

Albert C. Copeland Lived All His Life in Same House.

Albert Charles Copeland, 73, retired farmer, died at his home in Franklin township, six miles north of the city, today after an extended illness.

Mr. Copeland died in the house in which he was born, Oct. 25, 1866, and spent his entire life there. He retired a year ago. His parents, William and Mary Ann Kendall Copeland, were pioneer residents of Franklin township.

His wife, three sons, Clinton and Glenn of Mansfield and Raymond at home, and four grandchildren survive. He was a member of the Church of the Brethren.

Services will be conducted at the Finefrock funeral home at 3:3 p. m. Thursday by Rev. F. Blake Million, Richland Church of the Brethren. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body will be at the home until noon Thursday.

AUTO MECHANIC DIES AT AGE 61

Charles Draper, Perrysville, Stricken After Brief Illness.

PERRYSVILLE — Charles A. Draper, 61, Perrysville automobile mechanic, died at his home here yesterday following a brief illness. Mr. Draper was born in Perrysville, June 20, 1878, and was a lifelong resident of the community.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Jennie Draper, and a brother, Harry, of Perrysville.

Funeral services will be held at his mother's home at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. George H. Schrack of the St. John's Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in the Greenlawn cemetery.

FARMERS COULD BENEFIT FROM PRICE UPTURNS

Huge Paper Profits Waiting Growers in Government's Loan Program.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—A paper profit of approximately $25,000,000, less interest and storage charges, has accrued to the account of American farmers who are holding wheat off the market under government loans, grain men estimated today.

A sharp upturn in the price of wheat the past two weeks has lifted market quotations 10 to 20 cents above rates at which the government has lent $112,000,000 on 161,000,000 bushels stored on farms and in warehouses.

If producers wish, they can redeem this wheat by paying off the loans, interest and storage charges. Then they can sell at market.

Grain men pointed out, however, that if this were done on a large scale market prices probably would be affected. Nevertheless, some growers with long Christmas shopping lists have taken advantage of the opportunity.

The loan program, designed to enable producers to delay marketing until prices are advantageous, already has given farmers control of their wheat six months or more after harvest in some cases. Loans will not mature until April 30, 1940.

South America Pays.

The recent price rise, based on misfortune of producers in South America and the domestic southwest whose crop prospects are not good, has put the loan program in a favorable position at least temporarily. Most of the time during which the government granted loans, prices were below the rates.

The 1938 loan program was climaxed by a similar favorable price rise due to drought. Early this spring the government had advanced $47,000,000 on approximately 85,000,000 bushels of 1938 wheat. Higher prices arrived just in time to permit farmer redemption of more than 50,000,000 bushels.

While interest and storage charges take up 5 to 10 cents to date, producers have a workable margin at leading markets. Best red wheat is quoted close to $1 here compared with the loan basis of 80 cents.

BIGELOW AGAIN

Plans Jackson Day Dinner to Compete With Dems.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Competition developed today for the Jackson day dinner of Ohio Democrats on Jan. 8.

Charles H. Hubbell, of Cleveland, announced that on the same evening a dinner would be held to boost Herbert S. Bigelow of Cincinnati for governor. Bigelow sponsored the old age pension amendment defeated by Ohio voters last month.

The Bigelow dinner, Hubbell pointed out, will cost $1 a plate whereas the Jackson day dinner will cost $25 a plate. The lower price, Hubbell said, "is indicative of the economy which Governor Bigelow will effect in administrative costs of state government as compared with past Democratic governors and their hot mix and truckless trucking waste of public funds."

FAIR ENOUGH!

Facts Seem To Be On Side Of Washington Writer In Mix-Up Over Capital Story

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON—An incident which has been dragging along in Washington these last ten days proves either that Dr. Hans Thomsen, the man left in charge of the Nazi embassy, ain't no gentleman or that Mrs. Helen Essary, a journalist on Mrs. Cissie Patterson's Times-Herald, is a real good fortune teller. It might also prove an understanding between Hitler and Stalin for further corrections in historical error in Europe.

A week ago Sunday, which would be the third of the month, Mrs. Essary published a story purporting to be an interview with Thomsen in both direct and indirect quote. Incidentally, Mrs. Essary is a professional newspaper writer as distinguished from that class of vain and futile female amateurs who have made clumsy stabs at the business since Mrs. Roosevelt opened her little store and made a success of it. Mrs. Essary speaks the language and belongs.

In this piece Thomsen was made to say that Russia's attempt to conquer Finland was merely a step to redeem her own territory and to predict that Stalin would move down through Bessarabia to Turkey.

These were the quotes attributed to him on that subject.

"Russia has but one logical course. Her objective, a port on the Black sea, is understandable. She will move down the continent through Rumania, taking back Bessarabia, which belongs to her, as she goes. There are many Russians in Bessarabia. It would still be Russian land were it not for the mistakes of the Versailles treaty. Turkey is the real Soviet objective. All of Turkey? No. But full control of the Bosphorus."

In indirect quotes, Thomsen was said to have remarked further that if Rumania had not foolishly enlarged herself she would not now be in danger from Russia and also from Hungary, which wants back her part of Rumania.

All this was covered with the comforting observation that the honest European knows that war, for him, is almost everlasting.

Thomsen closed the discussion with a prediction, admonitory in tone, that the United States, having no proper concern in European affairs, would stay home and mind her own business.

But there is a question whether Thomsen ever said anything of the kind, ever discussed these matters at all with Mrs. Essary, for soon after the piece appeared the press associations were notified that he repudiated it all in the following terms:

"The remarks about the actual political situation, attributed in direct quotation by a Washington columnist to the German charge d'affaires, are entirely unfounded and must be left to the columnist's own imagination and responsibility. No interview on the subject mentioned was given by Dr. Thomsen."

Well, now, let us check.

Mrs. Essary knows Thomsen well and described in circumstantial detail the meeting at which the remarks are said to have been made.

She also relates confidentially several other remarks which she claims he tossed off, with the warning, however, that they were off the record. She had interviewed him before on the subject of Poland without painful reactions, and it is her contention that these portions of this later story which she did publish were given by Thomsen and without any reservation of question of confidence.

But here we find Dr. Thomsen, declaring that "no interview on the subject mentioned was given by Dr. Thomsen."

That leads to the conclusion that Mrs. Essary is a remarkable woman, either a good, enterprising journalist who did obtain a forecast of Russia's politic-military conspiracy against two other nations from the German ambassador, or a seer who called the turn on events of history's recent rush.

As to that you may take your choice, but reference to the actual news developments of last week will show that Russia did make the first preliminary passes at Rumania, and toward Turkey consistent with the plan which Mrs. Essary attributed to Thomsen, and that the Turks threatened to throw out Captain von Papen, the Nazi ambassador, for disseminating propaganda hostile to their security.

It is proposed that Mrs. Essary's story and Thomsen's chivalrous comment on the same be put upon the spike and compared to fuller historical developments, say, six months from now.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—In every racket there's a man with a beard. In wrestling it's Man Mountain Dean, in letters it's George Bernard Shaw. On the stage it's Monte Woolley. Politics, art and music abound with them.

In the movies it's George "Gabby" Hayes, and I'm not forgetting Orson Welles. Welles might shave almost any day when his picture is done. Gabby Hayes, well, he might shave, too, but there's not much chance.

If you live in Hollywood, or New York, or any big city, you probably don't know Gabby in pictures. Gabby's name isn't one for the bright city lights, except once in a while when he sneaks up on a big picture and sort of steals it with his garrulous, cussed old personality. He committed such larceny in "Man of Conquest" and he's likely to do it again in "The Dark Command."

In the westerns is where Gabby shines and is content to shine. With the Hopalong Cassidys, and the Gene Autry films, and currently with the Roy Rogers op'rys, he has made his name a byword.

Gabby, like W. S. Hart before him, is an old-time westerner from the east. Wellesville, New York, was his birthplace nearly 55 years ago. Gabby—which is the name of his stock character but has stuck to him—talks like a westerner but was based on many an old fellow Hayes knew back home.

Hayes hit the theatrical road when he was 17. His family had known all along that he would some day, so there wasn't any fuss raised. He made all the one-night stands with rep shows, starved a fair share of his time, and finally, with "Gabby," hit his stride in vaudeville. He came to Hollywood in 1928, expecting to work once in a while but mostly hunt and fish. By 1929 it was a different story.

"That was when everybody was pretending to be from Broadway, and being able to talk was every actor's boast. I advertised myself as the only actor in town who'd never been on Broadway. One day I said a few lines and was picked for a part in Eddie Dowling's "Rainbow Man.' I've been in pictures ever since, and mighty thankful to be in."

He used to paste crepe beards on his face to play Gabby, but five years ago he grew his own.

The beard, oddly, changed his "type." As a clean-shaven actor he played villains to most of the western stars; as bearded Gabby he's a trusted side-kick.

As religiously as a cowboy star, he refrains from drinking and cigaret-smoking in his pictures. He smokes cigarets, but never drinks anything harder than pop. His Lannie Upchurch in "Man of Conquest" was based on observation of bibulous characters. In other films Gabby steps up to the bar and demands sa's'prilly.

His barbering bills (merely for trims) are $2 every four months or so. Bearded and long-haired, he attracts no attention in Hollywood streets. He lives on a high hill with a view, like to stay there and read — biography and history.

His favorite actress—and you know how disillusioning this is only if you've seen his Gabby character—is Greta Garbo.

Dick Tracy---What's In a Name? IN COLOR ON SUNDAY By Chester Gould

SO! THE DICK GETS OUT OF THE WELL, COLLAPSES IN A SWAMP, AND YOUR DAUGHTER SAVES HIM. THAT'S GREAT!
I CAN'T BELIEVE IT!
WE WANTED TO DROWN HIM —BUT YOU WOULDN'T LISTEN!
WAIT TILL I GET MY HANDS ON THAT KID!
I THINK WE'LL GO NOW, DICK. I'LL BE BACK LATER.
FIRST, IF YOU DON'T MIND, I'D LIKE TO TALK ALONE TO THIS LITTLE LADY WHO SAVED MY LIFE.
SO YOUR LAST NAME'S VILLER, EH? HM! WHAT AN ODD NAME!
YES, SIR, BUT NEARLY EVERY ONE JUST CALLS ME BINNIE. -I-LIKE-BINNIE--BETTER!

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Dec. 13.

Very progressive and productive influences hold sway on this day, stimulating initiative and enterprise. Important matters are keyed to high levels of gratification. These may occur with precipitancy and surprise, as affairs move at whirlwind tempo under such rule. Something in the way of radical upheavals may be expected, with far-reaching effect. Labor and sound plans and ideals are slated for enduring reward.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden and surprising crises, with initiative and enterprise under strenuous tempo. Sound and constructive plans at this time would have enduring and far-reaching influence on the life and destiny. Deal with large corporations, secret bodies or fraternal organizations with confidence. Romance and adventure, with strangers and novel ideas, may figure.

A child born on this day may be bold and adventurous, and have excellent creative talent developed on sound principles. Novelty and romance may play a leading role in its carrer.

SCORE ROMANCE

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. —(INS)—Radio love dramas are an "insult to intelligent women," according to a vote taken at a forum of Westchester clubwomen. The women went on record in favor of more programs dealing with home-making and child training.

THEATERS

SIGRID GURIE can't sleep nights for worrying about her mother, Mrs. Sigrid Haukelid, who is on the high seas enroute from Norway to America. . . . When you see ex-director George Melford playing a bit in "The Light That Failed," it will be another example of Hollywood irony. Back in 1923 Melford directed a production of "The Light That Failed" . . . A featured role in "Tom Brown's Schooldays" has been promised as special award to one of the three girl finalists on the current radio program, "Gateway to Hollywood" talent quest. The selection will be made on the final broadcast over CBS on Dec. 31, and is entirely separate from the original award of a long-term contract and the name "Gale Storm," However, the one chosen as "Gale Storm" might also be named for a role in "Tom Brown's Schooldays."

Dr. Kildaire At Ohio.

The newest of the Dr. Kildare pictures, "The Secret of Dr. Kildare" is scheduled for showing at the Ohio theater Wednesday and Thursday. As in other pictures Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore play the leading roles, assisted by Lionel Atwill, Helen Gilbert and Laraine Day. The scientific detective romance deals with a beautiful girl's strange secret terror, and the detective work of Ayres as Dr. Jimmy Kildare, to trace it down to the plot of a fanatical nurse and a quack doctor. In the climax, under the guidance of Barrymore as Dr. Gillespie, he cures her blindness by practical suggestion.

Stage Show At Madison.

"South American Nights" is the title of the stage show which the Madison theater management is presenting for two days beginning Wednesday, with Freddie Stritt as master of ceremonies. A chorus of pretty girls sing and dance to the music of Venezuela's young maestro, Carlos and his South American band, recently featured at the Hotel New Yorker. Others in the cast are the Six Brazilians, Gasca Family, Don Pancho, Chiquita, Lupe de la Vega, and Costanzo and Marda, executing the intricate new dance steps of the "La Conga." The picture being shown in connection with the stage show is "20,000 Men a Year."

"Mr. Lincoln" At Ritz.

Henry Fonda, Alice Brady, Marjorie Weaver and Arleen Whelan head the cast of "Young Mr. Lincoln," the picture which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz theater. This is the dramatization of the eventful youth of Abe Lincoln, portraying him wrestling, fighting, telling funny stories, and falling in love. The highlight of the picture shows the young lawyer defying a frenzied lynch mob and defending two innocent boys in the famous "moonlight murder" trial—young Lincoln's first challenge. Peter Lorre in "Mr. Moto Takes a Vacation," is also on the Ritz bill.

Drama of Tropics At Park.

Lucille Ball and Allan Lane, two young Hollywood players who have rapidly climbed to popularity, make their debut as a romantic team in "Panama Lady" at the Park theater Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Ball is cast as a disillusioned entertainer in a Panama cabaret, while Lane plays an adventurous oil prospector who first meets her while on a periodic spree. Others in the cast are Steffi Duna, Evelyn Brent, and Donald Briggs. The other half of the double-bill is Richard Arlen, Virginia Bruce, and Bruce Cabot in "Let 'Em Have It."

O'Brien, Blondell Starred.

"Off the Record," a picture with a newspaper background, opened today at the Majestic theater with Pat O'Brien and Joan Blondell teamed as its co-stars and young Bobby Jordan of the "Dead End" kids playing a featured role. This time Pat and Joan are reporters on the same paper, and considerable excitement is lent the production by the depiction of their professional exploits. In the other picture, "It's a Wonderful World," Claudette Colbert is co-starred with James Stewart. Other members of the cast are Guy Kibbee, Nat Pendleton and Ernest Truex.

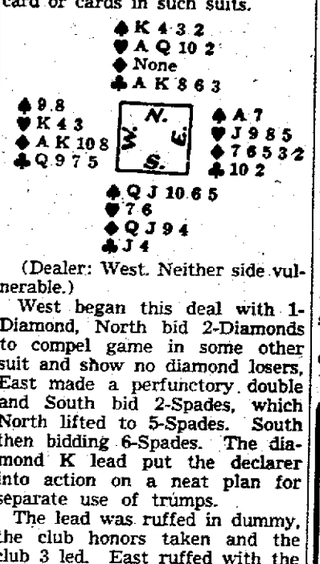
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT TRUMPS ARE FOR

Trumps have many more uses than merely to prevent opponents from running their suits against you or ruffing out your losers. One of their most valuable powers is to aid you in setting up winning cards in your side suits, through ruffing enough rounds which the enemy can win, until finally you find yourself in possession of the only outstanding card or cards in such suits.

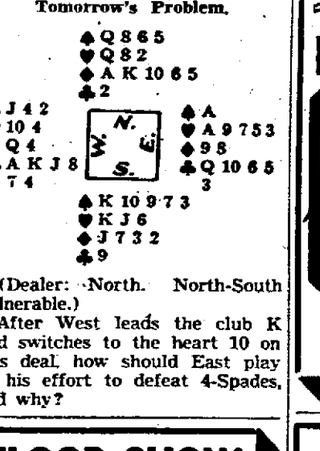


(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West began this deal with 1-Diamond, North bid 2-Diamonds to compel game in some other suit and show no diamond losers, East made a perfunctory double and South bid 2-Spades, which North lifted to 5-Spades. South then bidding 6-Spades. The diamond K lead put the declarer into action on a neat plan for separate use of trumps.

The lead was ruffed in dummy, the club honors taken and the club 3 led. East ruffed with the 7 and South over-ruffed with the 10. The diamond queen, covered by the A, was trumped, then the club 6 ruffed with the 5 when East discarded. The diamond J now was good for a heart discard and the diamond 9 covered by the 10 was trumped with the spade K. The spade 4 fell to the A of East, who did not like to lead into the heart tenace. So he returned the diamond 6, which South ruffed with the spade Q. The spade J settled West's second trump, then the heart A was taken, followed by the good club 8, which had been set up by ruffing. Thus the necessity for the heart finesse was avoided, though it would have worked.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

After West leads the club K and switches to the heart 10 on this deal, how should East play in his effort to defeat 4-Spades, and why?

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

"Of course not, darling," I assured her. "There's only one cat in this affair, and it distinctly isn't you."

"Don't waste time on apologies, even to yourself," I said. "Tell me immediately what Olina has been doing."

"It isn't what she's been doing, but what I'm afraid she's going to pull that bothering me," she said. "She's all set for something if she gets Pa-pa Veritzen on the telephone. She wasn't able to reach him tonight before she went to bed."

"Then," I said with a vicious click of my teeth, "she won't talk to him until I get ready if I have to cut the wires."

Mary laughed, and I noted thankfully, with no hint of hysteria in her voice.

"'At a girl, Auntie Madge!" she said. "I'd love to see you sneaking around with a pair of wire clippers."

"Don't think I wouldn't use them if I found it necessary," I told her.

"I know it," she said.

"Then don't waste any time talking about it," I retorted. "Instead, tell me about Olina."

"Well!" Mary said, drawing a deep breath, "she asked if it wouldn't be possible for Pa-pa deah to call a full rehearsal of all the cast even before you should return, in order to get this harp thing over."

"Why, that would mean you would have to go into rehearsal without me, and would have to go through with that lifeless, wooden rendition in which he drilled you, and that would give him his opportunity to—"

I stopped in chagrin at my own indiscretion, and Mary finished the sentence for me.

"To toss littul Ma-a-ry out on her shell-like ear," she drawled, but there was a quaver in the drawl which betrayed her desire to shriek the words.

I brought myself back to self-control with a jerk.

"How did she know about your rehearsals?" I asked. "I thought your father-in-law was keeping them a deep, dark secret."

"He is, I fancy, to everybody else, but I imagine my darling papa-in-law is revealing his innermost heart, and also his brain waves, to his old flame and her daughter, whom he's bound to get as a wife for Noel, tossing away as a mere trifle the fact that Noel has a wife already. At any rate, when she first talked to me about it, she had the whole matter at her fingers' ends, even to the detail that Phil had his company down here marking time until your return."

"Then," I said slowly, "she also must have known that I had stipulated he was not to have a rehearsal with you until I came back. That alters things altogether. She may know all about the plan we fear he has for eliminating you from the play, and may be ready to aid him in it."

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Fine.

Quick, Comforting Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known home-mixed medicine costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough remedy and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it is truly wonderful. It has a remarkable action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Texas Aggies 'Football Team of Year.'

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Texas Aggies, Southwest conference kingpins, are the football team of the year in the opinion of 116 sports editors and football experts who participated in the final Associated Press ranking poll of the season. Tennessee, second a week ago, fell more than 100 points behind with a 970-point total.

City League Launches Season Thursday Night

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

THE couple of appearances made by Jack Haerle on the mound for the Mansfield Braves last summer were really costly, although the Wooster boy should have realized what they meant to his scholastic eligibility. Haerle, a senior at Wooster high and the school's leading basketball scorer last season, was recently ruled ineligible by the state association for his participation in professional sports. Haerle claimed he was an employe at the Fairground and was not paid for playing, but the fact that he appeared in an Ohio State league game was enough to cost him his eligibility, whether or not he received a salary for that purpose.

Bob Sprague is the only member of the Ashland college court team who has not adopted the army haircut. LaVerne Gray, who played in the City league last winter, was the last to join the shorn ranks. Sprague's teammates have threatened to do the job themselves.

* * *

While it is feared that the working agreement with the St. Louis Cardinals has been broken, Fostoria expects to remain in the Ohio State league. Fostoria representatives made a number of encouraging contacts with other major league clubs at the Cincinnati meeting.

* * *

One of the old Mansfield favorites bumped into in Cincinnati was Wayne Blackburn, who played with the old Westinghouse team. "Blackie" performed with Durham in the Piedmont league last season, and expects to get a chance in higher company next year, although he is little larger than he was when he was drawing the plaudits at the Fairground.

Tiffin is again expected to be a charge of the Toledo Mudhens next year, although the A.A. club has switched affiliations from Detroit to the St. Louis Browns. Findlay is attempting to line up a working agreement with Brooklyn.

French Seeks Job In Red Sox Chain.

RAY FRENCH, who piloted the Braves at the start of last season, was another Cincinnati visitor this week, and he will return as manager of the Ashland, Ky., club unless he can get another connection. French was in conference with Eddie Collins of the Boston Red Sox, but was unable to say whether or not he received any encouragement from the former White Sox second sacker. Al Boyer, Mansfield boy with French's club last season, was due to return to Ashland.

Understand the Chicago Cubs are showing some interest in Zeke Bonura, the Giants' fumbling first sacker. But we thought Gabby Hartnett had enough trouble in Chicago.

It was also learned at Cincinnati that Johnny Barrett, outfielder of Mansfield's 1937 title team, was regarded as the best fielding gardener in the Eastern league last season. Barrett has been recalled by the Louisville Colonels and he will be joined there by an ex-Mansfield teammate, Andy Gilbert.

* * *

Some of those newspapermen can be awfully sarcastic when they choose: "Have they been dredging for Lombardi at Crosley field?" one of the visiting scribes asked a Cincinnati sports writer.

Judging from the Cincinnati meeting, a real baseball magnate is a fellow who can spend a week standing around a hotel lobby and emerge with a broken down bush leaguer and four or five good stories.

* * *

Oscar Vitt is said to have fainted when he heard the gossip that Detroit had offered Rudy York to Cleveland for Jeff Heath and Oscar Grimes.

Scores 16 Points, But Quint Loses

H. Woodberry grabbed honors in individual scoring performances in opening round games in the Senior colored basketball league at the Friendly House last night.

Woodberry flipped in 16 points, but his exhibition failed to do much good as his Wildcat teammates dropped a 55 to 27 decision to the All-Stars. The Tigers walloped the Bombers, 27 to 17, in the other tussle.

PULLMAN, Wash.—(AP)—Washington State College's basketball team, eastbound on a barnstorming tour, will meet Akron University Dec. 19 at Akron.

Sports Again Strong

Blue Goose, Westinghouse, Shelley Chocolates Make Up Loop With Yuncker Five.

CONDITIONED by numerous practice games, City Class A league teams will start tossing buckets in earnest Thursday when the schedule is lifted at Senior high school.

The personnel of the league this year consists of the Yuncker Sports, who won the title last season; Westinghouse Electrics, Blue Goose Oils and Shelley's Chocolates.

The Shelley team was admitted this week after the withdrawal of the Kochheiser Athletic Supplies and Mansfield Hi-Speeds, who had tentatively entered when organization plans were completed.

Thursday's opening program will get under way at 7:30 p. m., with Pete Hergatt's Blue Goose entry facing Shelley's quintet, which will have Noel Morgan, former Mansfield high star, as playing-manager.

The Yuncker and Westinghouse teams will get into the second game at 8:30 p. m. under the same management as last year. Jimmy Breres continues as pilot of the Sports, while George Percy remains at the head of the Westies.

With two of the mainstays of the 1938-39 team returning, the Sports again stand out as one of the stronger clubs in the circuit, but, judging from the personnel of the other quintets, the Yuncker cagers will encounter plenty of trouble.

Al Stickler, ex-Tyger star, and Johnny Rees, Lexington coach, who formerly played at Ohio State, are the Sports' returning veterans. New additions to the Yuncker roster are Howard Baker of Marietta, Bob Burgett, Butler mentor, and Glenn Irey of Shelby.

Bob Shade, Howard Poole and Ray Friday are three of the well-known members of the Westinghouse quintet.

Morgan, Freddy Lewis, Elmer Dials, former high schools stars; La Vern Gray of Ashland, and Bob Boyd, late of the Friendly House league.

Gray, a freshman at Ashland college last winter, played in the league, and returns because of ineligibility this season.

Big Tom Farrell, a veteran of many City league battles, heads the list of Blue Goose performers, which includes ex-Madison and Ontario stars.

The Blue Goose roster includes Kenny and Willard Lockhart, Bill Moritz, Bob Bogantz and Fred Wagenhals.

Joe Lesch, secretary-treasurer of the league, said that the referee has not been selected, although several applications for the job have been received.

Bears, Lions Win Inaugural Games

The Bears and Lions chalked up victories in inaugural games in the Friendly House Intermediate basketball league at the settlement last night.

Led by Altamont, who was high-point man with 15 markers, the Lions defeated the Rams, 30 to 25, and the Bears swamped the Red Birds, 23 to 7. Romono was high for the Bears with 12 points.

BASEBALL WRITERS SEEK RECOGNITION FOR GEHRIG

CINCINNATI—(NS)—An honor which probably will be attained by no other baseball player was prepared for Lou Gehrig today.

The baseball writer's association passed a resolution requesting the baseball hall of fame committee to consider only the former Yankee first baseman for the hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., in the forthcoming selection of players for this year, instead of passing out the honors as usual to as many ex-stars as receive the required number of ballots.

DEPAUL BEATS PURDUE

CHICAGO—(AP)—Depaul university's smooth-working basketball five made the first break in the ranks of the Big Ten's undefeated basketball teams by defeating Purdue last night, 37 to 25.

Roll Into Top Perch In Tight League Race

Liederkranz, Optimist Club Advance to Front; John Graf Sets Individual Pace.

THE Liederkranz and Optimist teams moved into the front of the tight Club league race at the Meder alleys last night.

In addition to gaining a share of first place, the Liederkranz club blasted out a 2885 total to set the scoring pace. Scores of 901, 990 and 994 produced two wins at the expense of the J. A. C. entry.

Harold Selby and Duke Weber were high for the Liederkranz team with totals of 611 and 606, respectively.

John Graf of the Commercial Managers, however, won individual scoring laurels with a 641 series, which was built from games of 208, 190 and 243. They took only one game from the Tracy & Avery five.

The Optimists kept pace with the Liederkranz club in the climb to the top by registering two win over Richman's Clothes.

* * *

The American Legion swept its series with the Schoolmasters, the Lumbermens Mutuals took two games from the Kiwanis club and the Mansfield Savings Bank added two wins at the expense of the Page Dairys in the other matches.

Pugh of Ringside Leads C Bowlers.

OPENING with a 203 and closing with a 217, Pugh of the Ringside Cafe hit the 594 figures to set the individual scoring pace in the Commercial C league. Despite his scores, the Ringside club dropped two games to the New Method Laundry, led by Beal's 543.

Koontz featured a 232 in his 572 series as the Hecht & Casey Coals annexed two wins at the expense of the All-Stars.

* * *

The Ritz Nite club was high in the team scoring division with a 2459 series, featured by Zellers' 546. The Ritz team won three games from the Dominion Electrics.

The Safety Cabs continued in first place by taking two decisions from Leverine's Dairys.

Champ Here

MILDRED BURKE

By popular demand, Gladys Gillem of Birmingham, Ala., will meet Mildred Burke of Kansas City in a feminine title bout at the Armory here Thursday night. They will wrestle for one fall with a one-hour time limit, the route specified by the Midwest Wrestling association for all championship matches in this division.

The unruly Miss Gillem came out only second-best in her argument against Princess Rose White Cloud last week, but the terrific physical beating she gave her foe before being disqualified has made her a logical choice. Local fans demanded that "Killem" Gillem be matched against someone capable of handling her in a manner unlike that which was used by the comely Indian girl.

Miss Gillem's bout with Mildred Burke will co-headline the card being offered by the Quality club. Sharing honors will be Davey Reynolds' meeting with the highly regarded Japanese matman, Tetsura Higami. This affair is slated for two falls, with a 90-minute time limit, and the winner will be well on his way toward a shot at champion Frankie Talaber.

Tickets have been put on sale at Hunt's news depot, City News and the Ringside cafe.

Defend Titles With Kayoes

Hostak, Armstrong Triumph on Cleveland Card.

CLEVELAND — (ILP) — Champions Al Hostak of Seattle and Henry Armstrong of Los Angeles headed west again today with added lustre and lucre after defending their middleweight and welterweight titles with knockout victories last night in the Cleveland News Christmas Fund show.

Blond Hostak, one of the hardest hitters ever to be unveiled in the midwest, is still recognized as king of the world's 160-pounders by the National Boxing association by virtue of his first-round knockout in one minute and 20 seconds over Eric Seelig, German veteran, before 10,998 cash customers at the Arena. In his first appearance east of the Rockies, Hostak's Blond-lightning blows evoked a plentitude of praise.

* * *

And Armstrong, the bull-shouldered little California champ who possesses the world's welterweight crown had won whole-hearted admiration because of his technical knockout over rugged Jimmy Garrison of Kansas City in the seventh round, despite "Hurricane Hank's" quiet evident lack of fighting edge on his 27th birthday.

Tygers Travel Friday

Hoffman's Club Meets Elyria, Columbus North in Games on This Week's Bill.

COACH VERN HOFFMAN'S Mansfield high Tygers will make their first appearance on a strange court Friday night when they travel to Columbus North in search of their third victory.

Thus far the Tygers have shown considerable promise, but Hoffman is not yet satisfied with the club as a whole. Hoffman was particularly critical of the way the Tygers conducted themselves on the offense.

"No good basketball team will toss away as many scoring opportunities as we did against Columbus South," Hoffman declared. This is a fault that was also evident in the victory over the Alumni team.

In addition to brushing up the Tygers' offensive play, Hoffman is working his reserves freely this week.

Two of the players who are getting a lot of attention are Shiplet and Phillips and they are expected to see more action as the season progresses.

They are two of the players Hoffman is preparing as protection for the time when a lineup change will be necessary. Gene Rudolph, who led the Tygers in scoring against South last week, will graduate in mid-season.

The North game is one of two games on the Tygers' schedule this year week. Mansfield is host to Elyria Saturday night.

GEORGIA COLEMAN GOES ON OPERATING TABLE

HOLLYWOOD—(U.P.)—Georgia Coleman, an Olympic diving champion in 1932, goes on the operating table today while her friends strive to raise money to pay the surgeon who is attempting to save her life. The 28-year-old girl is suffering from what her surgeon described as "toxic poisoning complicated by peritonitis."

The pretty, blond diver was crippled with an attack of infantile paralysis a year ago but she was making a game comeback when the present ailment struck.

OFFICIAL INJURED

Bill Pressing of Norwalk, well-known cage official, who handled the Tygers' first game of the season, suffered a fractured arm in an automobile accident near Bellevue Sunday.

PRICE TRENDS RAGGED IN DULL STOCK SESSION

Fractional Gains and Losses About Even After Recovery From Slow Start.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Motors and merchandising issues displayed recovery signs in today's stock market but trends, generally, were ragged.

The list slipped at the start, then steadied. In dealings that were even slower than in the preceding session, fractional gains and losses were later evened up.

A shade improved were General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Pennsylvania, Allied Chemical and Phelps Dodge.

Lagging were American Smelting, U. S. Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Air Reduction and General Electric.

News apparently was inconsequential as a speculative influence and brokers again thought adjustments of accounts for income tax purposes provided the principal rallying handicap.

Among items receiving market attention were:

Trade sources estimated sales of six prominent aircraft manufacturers this year would aggregate about $180,000,000, an increase of 43 per cent over distribution in 1938 with earnings ranging from 30 per cent to 300 per cent higher.

Following yesterday's $3 extra dividend of Allied Chemical, statistical quarters forecast net profits for the chemical makers in the current quarter would be the best for the period in the history of the industry. Demand in the early part of 1940 was expected to continue at a satisfactory rate.

The New York Stock Exchange announced the short interest as of Nov. 30 amounted to 479,344 shares as compared with 523,226 on Oct. 31, both totals excluding short positions carried in accounts of odd-lot dealers.

AUSTRIA CRASH KILLS 18

VIENNA (NS) — A death toll of 18 was counted today after a railway engine struck a motor bus at a grade crossing in the upper Danube district.

finally was for sale to the highest bidder and she is for sale again now to the side that promises the most.

"England has never come to the aid of a minor nation because its sympathies were with that nation, and the excuse England gave Poland for not helping that ravaged country was shameful and infamous. 'We could not send planes to help you because your airports had been destroyed and there was no place to station our planes,' England told Poland after the damage was done. Since when do bombing planes drop a few bombs and then settle down to roost for a while?" Hantelman asked.

"On four occasions from 1920 to 1935 England and France promised to defend Austria's independence and neither did a thing when Hitler took Austria.

"France had an alliance with Czechoslovakia, yet did nothing when Hitler ravaged that country. In eight years of Japanese aggression in China, no European power has done a thing to help defend the Chinese.

"Both England and France promised no interference when Italy invaded Abyssinia and then both asked the League of Nations for an economic boycott against Italy when Mussolini appeared to be getting too much.

"Hitler denounced Russia a few months ago and then invited Russia to occupy two-thirds of Poland.

"Shrewd publicity men for European munitions makers built up Hitler and called Germany the great threat of Europe when Germany was down and out after the World war and a period of peace loomed," Hantelman said.

"Hitler, an unknown who started his campaign in a beer garden, could have done little if it hadn't been for that build-up. Some one—(he inferred it was the munitions makers)—paid for the publication of Hitler's 'Mein Kampf,' which helped him in his campaign.

"There is no assurance that new leaders, just as grasping, would not rise to take the places of Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini if all three were whipped tomorrow," Hantelman asserted.

Following Hanelman's talk, the clubmen were shown motion pictures of Ohio's industries, wildlife conservation activities and beauty spots. The films were provided by the Standard Oil company.

Harold Duda's orchestra played during the dinner period and Michael Race performed a tap dance number. Jay S. Cairns, club president, was in charge of the meeting. Rev. Hayes M. Braker of the Park Avenue Baptist church gave the invocation.

BRITISH MOVIE STAR DIVORCED

Madelaine Carroll Gets Decree From Captain Astley.

LONDON—(AP)—Madelaine Carroll, British star of American films, today was granted a divorce from Captain Philip Astley on grounds of misconduct with a woman named Dorothy Everard.

They were married Oct. 2, 1931. Astley, partner in a London firm of surveyors, did not defend the divorce suit.

Testimony of the actress was given in an affidavit taken at Santa Monica, Calif.

Russia Changes Tactics; New Strategy Involves Two Separate Campaigns.

seeking to outflank the isthmus line.

The town of Loimola, less than 30 miles north of Pitkaranta, was bombarded heavily—apparently to "soften" the Finnish defenses for an impending assault by another force of advancing Russians.

Still further north, the resort town of Tolvajarvi was the scene of an engagement in which the Finns said their foe was turned back with heavy losses. Moreover, the Finnish command announced wiping out three companies of Red infantry trapped in machine-gun crossfire in the Ilomantsi sector, near Enso.

About 400 miles north of Lake Ladoga, the other principal strategy of the Russians—to knife across Finland to the Swedish border and the head head of the Gulf of Bothnia—was furthered by Russian capture of Salla, also 40 miles within the border.

This spearhead was about a fifth of the way across middle Finland.

Defense forces in that region were withdrawing slowly into forests from which they could put up a stiffer resistance than on the open terrain east of Salla. The Russian troops were said to have burned Salla.

At Suomussalmi, midway between the Lake Ladoga offensive and the Salla drive, the invaders were reported to have suffered other heavy losses.

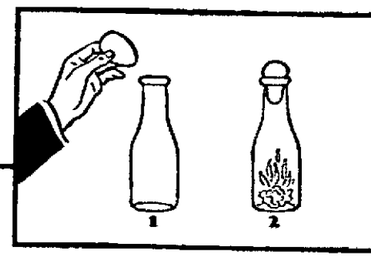
WHISKEY BUYING PUZZLE ENDED...



PUTTING AN EGG INTO A BOTTLE

A hard-boiled egg with the shell removed cannot be forced into a milk bottle, but it's easy when you know how. Simply light a small piece of paper, put it in the bottle, place egg on top. The vacuum created draws the egg into the mouth of the bottle. It's just as simple to solve the puzzle of which whiskey to buy by calling for Sherry-Blended* Caravan Whiskey.

YOUR CONFUSION CLEARED UP WITH

Sherry-Blended*

Caravan

Small wonder the "occasional" buyer of whiskey feels like he is reaching into a grab bag. There are enough brands, types and prices even to confuse an "expert." Others have found a way to end this confusion . . . as you can. They step right up and order *Sherry-Blended Caravan—selected, light-bodied, straight whiskies, blended with a dash of rare, imported Sherry. Try it yourself. You are very apt to discover a whiskey that tastes good—to you and your friends.

*The best taste and bouquet of carefully selected straight whiskies brought out and completely blended with just a dash of fine, imported Sherry.

SETS DEADLINE ON WHEAT LOANS

Government Notifies Farmers They Have Until Dec. 31 to Borrow on 1939 Crop.

Richland county farmers may apply for government loans on 1939 wheat crop until Dec. 31, George A. Mentzer of the county AAA committe, said today.

"Indirect loans made through lending agencies must be dated prior to Jan. 1, 1940 and loan papers submitted directly to the Commodity Credit corporation must be delivered in person or, if mailed, postmarked before that date," Mentzer said.

Federal loans on warehouse or farm-stored wheat will mature April 30, 1940, instead of in seven months from date as previously announced, he added.

Forty-three wheat growers in Richland county have already taken loans on this year's crop and have stored 9,680 bushels of wheat as collateral. Interest on the loans is now tree per cent, one per cent less than last year.

Farmers who kept within their allotment under the 1939 federal agricultural conservation program may borrow on wheat grown this year on the basis of 75 to 80 per cent of the average price paid for wheat during the past 10 years.

DOG TAG SALE SET

Gives Ruling On Jurisdiction of State Patrolmen

State highway patrolmen have authority to enforce state laws governing the operation of motor vehicles on the streets of a municipality, Atty. General Thomas J. Herbert has ruled

In an opinion to Col Lynn Black, superintendent of the patrol, Herbert said crashing a red light is a violation of the state law and a highway patrolman can make an arrest even if the violation is within the municipality.

It was pointed out, however, that highway patrolmen can not arrest a motorist for failing to stop before entering a main thoroughfare in a municipality unless the main thoroughfare is a state highway.

Drivers must stop before entering a state highway from a city street whether there is a stop sign or not, Herbert ruled. Outside a municipality it is necessary to stop before entering a state highway regardless of the presence of stop signs, but it is not necessary to stop at the intersection of two main highways unless signs are present, the ruling added.

Common Sense About Constipation

If you knew that your constipation was caused by something left out of your food, wouldn't it be just common sense to put that something back?

Your trouble may be caused by nothing more than this. For the most common kind of constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the bowels—you need some food that passes on through the stomach without being digested. Kellogg's All-Bran supplies this. It gives the bowels the bulky mass they need to work properly. And All-Bran also gives them the intestinal-tonic, vitamin B_1, which helps restore their tone

Eat All-Bran as a cereal or baked in muffins. But however you eat it, be sure you get some every day. And drink plenty of water. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Procrastination merely makes laziness harder to spell.

"Free speech" should be recognized by aliens as a privilege accorded for good citizenship.

All are descendants of Adam—but it sometimes seems that the progeny of Cain are entirely too numerous.

As it appears from here, the "People's Government" in Finland, as recognized by Stalin, is having trouble getting a quorum.

Sound Pensions Menaced

THE American Association for Social Security has worked for more than twenty years on sound programs for the care and financial protection of the aged. In recent years this pioneer agency has found wide recognition of the wisdom of its purpose. It has seen the adoption of federal and state pension plans, both generous and workable. A continued, sane development of such plans seemed assured.

Today the association finds itself suddenly forced to combat a wave of freak pension proposals which menace the sound laws it has sponsored in the past. These are the "ham-and-eggs" idea, rejected in California, the Bigelow pension scheme in Ohio, and various others put forward by financial pipe-dreamers.

Such pension panaceas propose to take care of the aged at the expense of other groups. Worse yet, they would wreck public finance, harm business and place an unbearable burden on all who work to earn their livelihood.

There is need for continuance of intelligent planning, not ram-bow chasing, in this field.

Buy and Use Christmas Seals

OVERSIGHT or neglect is believed responsible for failure of Christmas Seal headquarters to receive payment for some of the sheets of seals sent to the organization's mailing list.

While, in the main, the response has been satisfactory, there are still a number of persons to whom seals were sent who have not yet made payment or returned the seals.

Purchase and use of Christmas Seals has become so widespread in recent years that practically everyone in the community joins, in a large or small way, in contributing to the fight against tuberculosis conducted here and elsewhere through funds made available by the annual sale of seals between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

If you have not yet paid for the seals sent to you why not do it while you have it in mind—and don't forget to use these seals on letters and parcels from now until Christmas.

Short-Measure Accidents

THE DEPARTMENT of markets of New York City conducts an annual investigation into the short-weight, short-measure, and short-change practices of some retail merchants. Sixty-five such cases were brought into court recently with results as interesting to a psychologist as to consumers.

Poor eyesight was the most frequently offered excuse for mis-reading scales. A meat market proprietor who had erred in the weight of some lamb chops explained that he "had just been having a cup of coffee in a restaurant next door and his glasses were all steamed up." Another had sold only two turkeys all day and when some one asked for a big bird—it happened to be the city inspector—the dealer "got so excited" he made a mistake about the weight.

Inexperience was the excuse offered by a number of clerks hired only for the holiday season. An "honest error in arithmetic" was another explanation. There were many more, ranging from ingenious and fantastic to commonplace.

The odd thing about this is that such reasons may not only be plausible but possible. Fallible human beings do make errors. They do it to their own disadvantage as well as to their own gain. It is just as well, however, to have departments of weights and measures check on such points to prevent their becoming intentional and habitual.

Columbus Barbers Ask Ordinance

A STRANGE proposal is up before Columbus city council in the form of an ordinance setting 50 cents as the minimum price for a haircut and 25 cents for a shave, in all Columbus barber shops. The ordinance is sponsored by the Columbus Barbers' union.

Just why 50 cents has been hit upon as a minimum is not entirely clear, for, if the price is to be established by law, a 75-cent haircut price would seem just as practicable—and would require no longer ordinance.

The question of legality arises, of course, as the principle involved would naturally be expected to extend shortly to other forms of service. There is also the possibility that such a law might remove the incentive for some barbers to become more skillful than other barbers, as is quite likely under a competitive system.

Skiing Becomes Big Business

RAPID DEVELOPMENT of skiing as a winter sport in every part of the United States where there is enough snow for the purpose brings other interesting developments.

There are skiing clothes, equipment and jewelry. The costumes include everything from the right shoes to snow glasses. Special gear begins with skis and poles. In the jewelry are belt and scarf pins and ornaments for hoods, made of silver or carved wood or leather.

The business side of skiing extends to the railroads, which offer special trains and rates to take sportsmen to their chosen places. There are highways kept open by the park service so that skiers can drive to their destination. The CCC has built trails and ski jumps. Hotels and clubs maintain camps for week-ending snow-lovers.

There is even ski etiquette. For example, a skilled skier should always choose safe slopes when he leaves a track, because others, less skilled, are likely to follow him.

Be Thankful for Light

A VIVID glimpse of the Old World is given in the words uttered by Ambassador Joe Kennedy when, returning from England, he set foot on American soil at New York.

"I'm going to spend my first two nights," he said, "in Times Square, just rubbering at the lights. It's been a long time since I've seen a lighted street at night."

It's the darkness of Egypt in cities across the Atlantic. We should appreciate, along with our security, the inestimable boon of light with which this blessed land is flooded.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—He was earning one hundred and twenty-five dollars a week, and he walked in one day and quit, because the money didn't mean anything to him anyway, and there were some other things he thought he would like to do.

He is an artist—one of the best I ever saw. Every now and then you run into people who say that money doesn't mean anything to them. I always take that with a pinch of salt, but in his case it was true. Money doesn't mean anything to him. Not a thing.

After he quit his job he fooled around for several months and his agent got an assignment for him—an important railroad sketch. The idea was to depict a rusty, broken-down engine, on an abandoned siding. This delighted him, because he loves trains.

WHEN the drawing was complete it was submitted to the art editor, who was delighted with the high quality of the work. "Just one little thing," he said, "I wanted an engineer here, by the bumper, lighting his pipe, or wiping his face with a handkerchief, or something.

"Oh, no," said my friend, "if this is a brokendown-rusty engine, there wouldn't be any engineer there."

"But it's my drawing, and I'm paying for it, and I want an engineer," protested the editor.

"Then get somebody to put him there, because I won't," replied this artist, walking out.

That isn't a pose. That's just the way he is. He may be accounted odd by those who have only a slight acquaintance with him, but to me he is the only man I know who is fundamentally and altogether 100 per cent honest. He is twenty-seven. In some things he is almost naive. In others he's a thousand.

One day several of us—Don Flowers was there, I believe—were having breakfast in a quick lunch wagon near the East River. Somebody recited a joke. I've forgotten which one. Everybody laughed except this man, who dead-panned us until the story was told.

THEN he got up and said, "Don't tell me any more stories like that. They aren't funny." And he went out. That's just the way he felt at the moment. It wasn't a pose.

Not long ago he filed a steady stream of telegrams to a friend in Chicago. This friend was flying back to New York. "Remember Knute Rockne," ran one wire. "Remember Will Rogers" . . . "Remember Wiley Post" . . . Everyone who had ever died in a plane wreck and who was of importance was cited. He thinks anyone who rides in planes is crazy. Perhaps that is the natural reaction of one who is fascinated by trains.

In any case, he has just been assigned to do three sketches a week, depicting sporting figures, at a handsome fee. The first series will deal with hunting. But I know when the editor says, "Have the hunter with the gun across his shounder;" he will say, "Oh, no, it doesn't belong there. It should be leaning against that tree."

And if the editor gives him an argument, I have no doubt that he will turn on his heel and walk out.

"How Do You Rate?"

(Mabel Long, Wichita, Kansas—Columnist of the Day)

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DON'T blame this on me, girls! Mabel Long, of Wichita, Kansas, did this with her own little hatchet. Do I think her quiz is timely? Do I believe a lot of our Model Mamas are getting by with murder? Sister, I like my health . . . and I'm . . . not . . . telling! Go pick on Mabel, if you want to start something. Here's betting she can take it as well as dish it out.

Dear Miss Robinson:

This opportunity to be a Columnist for a Day is certainly the answer to this lady's prayer, for I've longed for years to ask my fellow women a few questions, and maybe here's my chance.

As a female, I naturally rejoice over the many privileges enjoyed by my sex and the praise meted out to us. But sometimes I find myself wondering—as men must often do—just how we really rate. Take you, for example, Mrs. Smith—or you, Mrs. Jones or Mrs. White—you expect a great deal from your husband and usually get it, that being our American system. You expect a comfortable home, good food, nice clothes, modern conveniences, medical service, amusement, insurance policies, love and faithfulness. All of which is your rightful due if you are as good at your job as you expect him to be at his. But, JUST AS WOMAN TO WOMAN, ARE YOU?

Remember (chances are you don't) your husband was a human being with individual tastes and privileges before he ever became Your Man. As a bachelor, he could have a comfortable home with good food for about $7 per week, laundry extra. He could wear better clothes than he probably does now . . . have far more fun and freedom and enjoy the companionship of lady friends who were always cheerful, courteous and considerate when in his presence. If they weren't, he didn't call again.

Then he married you and—whether you realize it or not—he's doing a lot of thinking. If you're the good chum he expected, you'll be worth every cent you cost—and he'll never grudge it. But suppose you give him one-tenth the cheer and comfort he had before; suppose you regard everything YOU do as a frightful sacrifice, but expect and accept his services as a matter of course—then what?

The next time you pull a tantrum, it might be well to remember that your husband could and (let's hope) would fire you without a second's hesitation for doing any of the following things:

1. Letting him get his own breakfast while you snooze on.
2. Slopping around in bedroom slippers and rumpled kimono.
3. Letting the dirty dishes and other household chores accumulate until he can help you.
4. Refusing to entertain those of his friends whom you may not like.
5. Hogging the bureau and closet space.
6. Greeting him at night with a load of whines.
7. Fibbing, snooping . . . disloyal complaints to your friends.
8. IN GENERAL, A REFUSAL TO REALIZE THAT HOUSEWORK IS AS MUCH YOUR JOB AS OFFICE WORK IS HIS.

That's only eight counts, lady friends. But, as woman to woman, are you breaking clean on THOSE?"

Mabel Long,
1047 S. Water St.
Wichita, Kansas.

Comments from me? I repeat, dearies, there's nothing doing. In these mayhem merry-go-rounds, I'm "just the little girl who wasn't there."

Timely Editorial

Now It Is December.

As its name indicates, December originally was the tenth month in the Julian calendar, as the month just preceding was the ninth. We have revised our calendar but we cling to the original terminology.

But not only is December our twelfth month, for it is the last chapter in the year book, too. As we start into it we no only are reminded that Christmas is coming, but that soon 1939 will have passed into history. We shall be told how many shopping days we have left, which is proper, but we ought also to remind ourselves of the scarcity of time remaining in which to do for 1939 what we promised, Jan. 1, we'd do, and which, as the prayer book says, we have left undone, together with those things which we should not have done.

December is a time for reflection, for taking stock, for squaring up accounts, not only those that have to do with buying and selling, but those, also, which concern moral, social and spiritual values.

It also is a time for looking forward. Appraising the failures we have made, along with our successes, we should try, as best we can in these 31 days, to get ourselves ready for 1940.—Ohio State Journal.

1.—What are the four factors that largely govern human growth?

2.—What European countries are now holding territory that formerly belonged to imperial Russia?

3.—In what type of rock formation are numerous caves apt to exist?

Words of Wisdom.

All travel has its advantages. If the traveler visits better countries he may learn to improve his own; and if fortune carries him to worse, he may learn to enjoy his own.—Johnson.

Hints on Etiquette.

In telling a story or relating an incident, don't go into too much detail, or you may become boring. Tell it as picturesquely as possible, "hitting the high spots," as it were, and leaving out unimportant details.

One-Minute Test Answers.

Tubercle Bacillus Aristocrat of Germs.

—By DR. CLENDENING

WE DO not know exactly when all the germs with which we deal today appeared on the earth, but we are inclined to think that the cause of tuberculosis, the tubercle bacillus, is the aristocrat of all germs. Evidences pointing to tuberculous disease of the bones have been found in Egyptian mummies and in the bones of prehistoric men and animals. It has been man's constant companion since the dawn of history.

Identified in 1882.

Considering our long association, it is remarkable that the tubercle bacillus was never actually seen or identified until 1882. I have before me the paper which Robert Koch published in the Berlin Weekly Clinical Magazine in that year on "The Etrology of Tuberculosis." After this discovery it was possible to recover the tubercle bacillus from various kinds of diseased tissue and much that had previously been in controversy was settled.

It was discovered, for instance, that the tubercle bacillus does not always produce tuberculosis. Nine out of 10 city dwellers have a focus of dead or attenuated tubercle bacilli some place in their lungs or lymph nodes, but the germs have been conquered or killed or surrounded by calcified tissue and no clinical tuberculosis resulted.

There are different strains of tuberculosis which affect different animals. Besides the human form, there is the form in cattle—bovine tuberculosis, and the form in birds—avian tuberculosis.

It is also possible that different strains of the tubercle bacillus cause different manifestations in different tissues. Tuberculosis occurs in the lung most frequently but can occur in nearly any organ or tissue in the body. The second commonest site of tuberculosis is in the bones or joints, the spine being affected most frequently, and next the hip joint, knee, wrist, elbow and ankle.

The next most frequent sites of tuberculosis are the lymph nodes, particularly in the neck. The condition used to be known as scrofula, and even further back it was called the King's Evil because these nodes were supposed to be healed by the touch of a royal hand.

Different Strains.

It is quite possible that one strain of tubercle bacillus has an affinity for the lungs, another strain has an affinity for the lymph nodes, and still another has an affinity for the bones and joints.

The tubercle bacillus is very tenacious of life. It can live for thousands of years and cultures have been grown from the tissues of mummies in which the bacilli have lain since 2000 B. C. It is also very resistant to heat and cold and more resistant than most germs to exposure to sunlight.

This ancient enemy and companion of man is, as we have pointed out, decidedly on the run, and the sale of Christmas seals of the Tuberculosis Association does much to keep up the battle against it.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Stenio Vincent, charming, dusky president of Haiti, is being wined and dined in Washington this week under auspices far different from the reception of his predecessor, Louis Borno, in the Twenties.

When President Borno departed from Haiti, the U. S. Marine Corps band, serenading him on the dock, played "Bye-Bye, Blackbird."

Later when President Borno passed Governor's Island, New York, the U. S. Army failed to roar the required 21-gun salute. The oversight—if it was an oversight—almost caused an international incident, and General Charles P. Summerall, a native of Florida and commander of Governor's Island, got the blame.

Summerall, who badly wanted to become chief of staff, found that a Lieutenant William W. O'Connor, son of a New York policeman and with an aversion to gentlemen of color, had failed to fire the salute, and demanded his resignation. However, Colonel James T. Watson, commander of the battery, took the blame, though later he was acquitted by a court martial.

When President Borno sailed back to Haiti General Summerall himself stood beside the guns to see that the salute was given. And as the vessel passed the Statue of Liberty, the lieutenant gave the order to fire.

But the gun missed—a faulty shell. The second gun was ordered to fire. It missed. Then, before they could be unloaded, both guns went off simultaneously.

Note—Despite all this, General Summerall got his appointment as chief of staff. One of the first things he did was to bring about the retirement of Colonel Watson for "disability in line of duty."

Ickes On Dies.

DEMURE, dapper Jerry Voorhis, millionaire congressman from southern California, got a pointed bawling out from Harold Ickes at a recent lunch given in honor of Hollywood star Melvyn Douglas.

Ickes was telling friends what he thought of the Dies committee when Voorhis, a member of that committee, joined the group. Secretary Ickes did not pause a moment.

"The Dies committee," he said, "is the most unfair investigation ever held on Capitol Hill. There has been no attempt to call witnesses. The committee has merely let anybody under the sun come in there and smear anybody they wanted."

"But, Mr. Secretary," demurred Voorhis, "you know it isn't the job of a congressional committee to call witnesses from the other side."

"But look at the LaFollette committee," shot back Ickes. "It has done a fair and thorough job of investigation. It has been very careful in its advance investigation. It has not shot off on tangents. It has been sure of itself before it moved. And it has done a real service. But the Dies committee?"

The secretary of the interior continued at some length. Congressman Voorhis listened. His face was very red.

New Haitian President.

PRESIDENT VINCENT did not come to the United States via Governor's Island, so there was no trouble over his salute. He flew in via Miami. Also there was no trouble over his stopping at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington.

That distinguished hostelry is the home of various senators, such as "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, who draw a very definite color line. However, the Haitian president was cordially though unobtrusively received.

He came to offer the United States government a naval base and an air base in Haiti to guard the outer defenses of the Panama Canal.

Taft Press Agent.

IF YOU know of a good farm publicity man, pass the word along to Senator Bob Taft's campaign managers. They have decided he needs one.

They came to this conclusion as a result of Taft's recent midwest electioneering junket, during which he made a good impression in the cities but did not click with the farm vote—and that is what counts in the corn belt.

One reason was Taft's forthrightness. In Des Moines, on the very day the administration announced a loan of 57 cents a bushel on corn, Taft took a poke at this form of farm aid—the one admittedly popular feature of the AAA. Also, in Omaha, instead of addressing a farm meeting as originally planned, Taft went to a chamber of commerce luncheon. Business men were pleased, but the farmers sour—and they are more numerous.

Friends blame these mistakes on Taft's former classmates at Harvard Law School, who are trying to help him, but who know even less about politics than the Roosevelt Brain Trust.

Taft's managers insist that he really appreciates the farmers' plight, and that a crack publicity man could get that fact across. So they are canvassing the field—so far without success.

"All the good press agents," they complain, "have been hired by the New Deal."

Merry-Go-Round.

U. S. OFFICIAL observers with the Finnish armies report that the casualites among the Russians are even greater than reported. Red soldiers have advanced in droves, have fallen in droves. However, they are bound to win by sheer weight of numbers. . . . Russian troops are badly staffed and the organization of the troops is more political than military. . . . When Pan American Airways announced they would "soon" begin flights to Europe six times a week someone took the trouble to check on whether any planes were ready for this service. They found Pan American had not even started building. (It takes about one year to build a transatlantic plane.) . . . Reason for the announcement was to head off American Export in starting a route to Italy. Pan American now has a monopoly.

Killing the Pups

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WHEN I VISITED my neighbor, his three little girls brought each a tiny puppy to show me. They were not more than a week old and their mother, a black and tan dog, sat watching anxiously while I inspected them. One looked like it was of German police ancestry, another showed collie markings—the third was just plain dog. But they were interesting, as all young things are, and I knew why the children loved them.

"Can't even give them away," my friend declared, winking at me. "It'll be my job getting rid of them. One thing sure, we can't keep them all around."

I knew how he felt. My brothers and I used to draw cuts to see who would have the gruesome task of ridding the premises of excess kittens. It was never a pleasant job, even when father paid us for it. My friend is a big man, an ex-policeman. It occurred to me that one grip of that mighty fist of his would crush the life out of anything so small as a young puppy.

That was a week ago. Today I stopped again, but the man was not at home. I remembered our conversation and asked how he got along with the pups. His wife smiled, peculiarly.

"He took a basket the other day, when the girls were out, and put the puppies in it. Then he picked up the hatchet and the spade and went off toward the woods. The mother whined and wanted to go along, but he drove her back. I saw the innocent puppy faces peeping over the top of the basket and I looked the other way. I knew it had to be done, but I was glad I wasn't in John's shoes.

"The girls came home before John did, and went to find the pups. When they were gone, the four-year-old rolled on the floor and cried. The other two were nearly as bad. I had all I could do to keep from joining them. We all went out into the porch to wait. Then their father came around the corner, looking bewildered and sheepish."

"Well?" I asked.

"By the way he grinned and by the way he looked, I knew what he was going to say. 'I couldn't do it, Mom. I didn't kill any of 'em. They're all cute. I put them back into the nest with their mother.'

"I wish you could have seen the children's faces."

Synthetic Vitamin Aid In Treatment Of Hemorrhages

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(INS)— A new synthetic form of vitamin K, valuable in surgical operations in reducing loss of blood, has been discovered by University of California scientists.

Vitamin K is an anti-hemorrhagic or blood-clotting factor found chiefly in alfalfa and other green plants. It is valuable in human hemorrhages in many diseases, like yellow jaundice.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the discovery by Mrs. H. J. Almquist and A. A. Close of the California University staff, the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, announced a similar discovery.

The two California scientists also announced they had found a simple and cheap chemical known as "2-methynapthoquinone," which is four times as strong as vitamin K in its blood-clotting properties.

Previously Close and Almquist revealed the discovery of another synthetic form of Vitamin K, phthiocol, which possesses the valuable qualities of going into solution with water, which then can be injected into the blood stream.

Two-Billion Jump In National Income Seen for '40

AYERS NAMES WAR, ELECTION BIG FACTORS

Cleveland Economist Declares Commodity Price Inflation Likely Next Year.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—An increase of two billion dollars in national income next year was predicted today by Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust company and widely known economist.

Ayres, in his annual forecast to the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, said that any predictions he made must be tempered by the controlling factors, the war in Europe and the national elections. These, he said make it impossible to foresee developments clearly.

From personal observations, however, Ayres made some predictions as to 1940.

"National income," he said, "which will be about 69 billions in 1939, will probably be about 71 billions in 1940, and not over three per cent above or below that total."

Department store sales and railroad freight loadings will show some increase, while steel and automobile production will not vary more than 10 or 12 per cent from this year.

"It seems quite likely that commodity price inflation will develop in this country in 1940," Ayres said.

Cites High Wage Level.

"Among series likely to make new all time high records in 1940," he continued, "are petroleum refining, output of electric power, tobacco products and the production of airplanes.

"The totals of wage payments reached in 1937 their highest levels since the bottom of the depression, and in 1940 they will probably be within four per cent of those of 1937.

"In 1940 we shall make rapid progress in our economic education. We shall choose a president not only over our politics, but also over our economics. Unless we receive large war orders we shall know the result of our second great experiment in pump priming.

"By a year from now we shall know fairly well whether in the future the flow of new funds that is required to keep our economy from stagnating is to come in the years ahead from government subsidies or from private investments."

Action by Commission Most Extensive This Year; Two From County in Group.

The Ohio Pardon and parole commission granted Christmas paroles today to 183 Mansfield reformatory inmates, including two from Richland county, but the paroles won't be good until after the holidays.

The commission's action in releasing 175 prisoners outright and granting eight others conditional releases was one of its most extensive of the year.

Richland countians granted paroles were Carl Spayde, sentenced Feb. 4, 1939, to one to 20 years for shooting with intent to wound, and Samuel Bender, received at the reformatory Dec. 24, 1934, to serve a one-to-15-year term for burglary.

Spayde will be released next May 1 and Bender on April 1 if county authorities do not want him on another charge. His case will be referred to the county, the commission said.

Six Ashland county inmates were paroled, with four of them to be released Feb. 1, one May 1 and the other July 1, 1940. They are Gerald Finley, burglary, Feb. 1; Gail Kopp, burglary, Feb. 1; Fred Esterline, burglary, Feb. 1; Charles Bowman, breaking and entering, Feb. 1; Earl Meeks, burglary, May 1, and Charles Cathers, burglary and carrying concealed weapons, July 1.

PAYS FOR JOKE

Sullivan Man Fined $25 After False Call to Sheriff.

ASHLAND — Kirk Barlow, 46, of near Sullivan, was fined $25 and costs when arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. H. Armstrong, after being charged with intoxication.

But, it was not intoxication which first brought him to the attention of the sheriff's department —it was a call he made to the sheriff, in which he said that there had been a bad accident, and that the sheriff was needed.

The sheriff's department lost no time in dashing to Sullivan to investigate the alleged accident— when they got there they went to Barlow's gas station, where Barlow told them that there had been no accident.

Barlow was given a free ride back to Ashland, charged with intoxication and was fined. Justice Armstrong suspended $20 of the fine.

VARIETY MARKS CHURCH PARTY

St. John's Brotherhood Holds Annual Christmas Event.

A variety program featured the annual Christmas party of the Brotherhood of St. John's Evangelical church in the church parlors last night.

The program included vocal selections by Donald McLaughlin, accompanied by Ed Stanton; song and dance specialty by Gene Gump; Harold Snyder, whistler; the Three Majors, Gerald Hobart, Glenn Wentland and John Bauer, drum majors and accordion trio, and carol singing led by John C. Klinger, program chairman.

During the business meeting the club voted $50 to be applied toward the church Christmas offering.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 8 when the annual "visitors" night will be observed. Russell Minch is program chairman for this meeting.

GETS PEN TERM

Man Sentenced to Pen; Pleaded Guilty to Non-Support.

ASHLAND—Indicted by county grand jury for non-support recently, Charles Greegor, of near Wooster, was sentenced to a term of from one to three years in the Ohio State penitentiary by Judge H. E. Culbertson.

Greegor, charged with the non-support of his children, was indicted sub rosa. He pleaded guilty on arraignment before Judge Culbertson, who sentenced him to hard labor for the duration of his term.

CONFERS DEGREE

I. O. O. F. Lodge Holds Special Service at Crestline.

CRESTLINE—A special meeting of Crestline Lodge of Odd Fellows was held Sunday afternoon to confer the first degree on a class of three candidates. Two were from Crestline and one from Johnsville. This time was chosen to accommodate the men whose work will not permit them to attend the regular meetings.

William Black, Noble Grand presided and the degree team from Mansfield Lodge conferred the initiatory work. Members were present from Bellville, Johnsville, Mansfield and Crestline.

A committee composed of D. D. Sipe, L. M. Niswander, Elmer Grim and Walter Morris, served refreshments.

PROBE REVEALS STRIFE AMONG NLRB MEMBERS

Board Member Criticizes Actions of Colleagues; Delays in Action Flayed.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The house committee investigating the National Labor Relations Board disclosed today that John Boettiger, son-in-law of President Roosevelt and Seattle publisher, said he complied with a board order against his paper primarily to avoid embarrassing the Roosevelt administration.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Evidence to show internal dissension in the National Labor Relations Board piled up today in the records of a special House committee which heard one board member criticize actions of his colleagues and employes.

The basis of the testimony about policy differences was copy after copy of confidential memoranda between William M. Leiserson, newest appointee of the board, and Chairman J. Warren Madden and Member Edwin S. Smith.

The documents showed Leiserson termed "inexcusable" delays in disposing of some cases, described as "amateur detectives" certain board review attorneys, and called one set of instructions to regional board officials "stupid nonsense."

But as Edmund M. Toland, committee counsel, produced a big stack of documents of this nature at the first hearing yesterday, Leiserson puffed vigorously on a well-worn pipe and smilingly observed:

"I don't want to say that I am always right and that those who disagree with me are necessarily wrong."

'Relied' On Madden.

Leiserson told the committee that he was interested in "practical administration" by the labor board and relied largely on Madden for checks on legal points in the 20,000 cases.

He occupied the stand all day yesterday.

The committee has $50,000 to investigate operation of the Wagner act, its administration by the labor board, and its effect on employment and employer-worker relations. It can make recommendations to the House for corrective measures.

Toland wound up the first day's testimony by placing in the record copies of refusals by Leiserson to participate in decisions in certain cases because they were "too old."

SOLON, 65, DIES

Mapes, Michigan G. O. P. Congressman, Dead In New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS — (U.P.) — Rep. Carl E. Mapes (R., Mich.) died today of a heart attack in his hotel room here.

The 65-year-old congressman was a member of the Cole committee holding hearings on a bill to place the oil industry under federal control. His home was in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Gorman-Rupp Gives Bonus of $125 to Each of Its Workers.

A $2,875 Christmas present went to the employes of the Gorman-Rupp company, Mansfield pump manufacturers, today in the form of a $125 bonus for each of the firm's 23 workers.

The bonus is the largest ever paid by the company in its six years in business here, company officials said, and was based on the 1939 business gain which gave the firm its best year.

A statement of the officiars said: "The firm recognizes the part its employes played in making the year successful and uses this means to show its appreciation."

12 CALLED IN DEATH PROBE

Possible Slaying Seen In Case of Body Found In River.

FREMONT, O.—(AP)—Sandusky county authorities today summoned 12 persons for resumption of an inquest in the death of Walter Snyder, 24, Fremont sugar refinery worker found dead in the Sandusky river Thursday.

Bruises about Snyder's face indicated he might have been slain, Coroner D. W. Philo said. Examination showed no water in his lungs, although his body lay face down in two feet of water when discovered by a farmer.

Snyder disappeared Oct. 31, failing to keep an appointment that night with an acquaintance who was held as a suspect in the investigation, and released after a lie detector test.

GROUPS NAMED

5 Sub-Committees Picked for Boys' Work at 'Y.'

Five sub-committees to handle different phases of boys' work at the Y. M. C. A. were appointed at a meeting of the Boys' Work committee at the "Y" last night by Irl Fisher, president.

Named to head the five sub-committees are Herman D. Bishop, school co-operation; Louis Jisa, camping program; Glenn Robinson and Albert Benson, church co-operation; John Eisaman, community boys' work, and Harold Mansfield, group memberships and club work.

The committee also set aside every Saturday night as "father and son" night at the "Y." On this evening sons may bring their fathers as guests to participate in the various activities with them. Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary, said.

TELL BILL GOODBYE + + + + + +

By MARIE BLIZARD
(Copyright, 1939.)

CHAPTER NINETEEN

THE SENIOR partner of Hardy, Hardy and Hardy, Counsellors at Law, regarded his earliest visitor with grave interest and approving eyes. He hadn't seen Gertrude Willoughby's daughter since her debutante days, but his memory was clear and he saw a change, and that Fabienne was developing into very different type of person from her frivolous mother.

He was therefore disappointed when she opened her conversation by saying, "Mr. Hardy, I want an advance of fifteen hundred dollars on my allowance. And I must have it at once."

"My dear child, you should go to Quentin or Nicolas." Quentin and Nicolas were the banker trustees of Elihu Willoughby's estate.

"I know," she told him. "But you are also one of the trustees and I hoped you would handle it for me. You see, I don't want to have to explain why I want the money at once."

Old eyes swept over the graceful length of her seated in the chair opposite, over the expensive gown and furs up to the string of fine pearls around her slim throat.

Andrew Hardy sighed. The girl was, after all, like her mother. "And you wish to—er—meet a pressing bill?" he queried. "Perhaps, in that case, I should explain that certain sacrifices—"

She smiled, reading his thoughts, and shook her blond head. "I know what you're going to say, sir. You're going to tell me that I must learn to live within my income because there isn't any more to be expected. Right?"

"Right," he agreed.

"I'm going to do that. Now, I'll tell you what I'm going to do with this money. I'm going to build a theater."

Hardy's hopes that had risen fell again. "A theater?" he asked, unbelievingly.

"Yes. It may cost more than fifteen hundred dollars. In which case," she shrugged her shoulders and added, "I'll need more."

"My dear child, I consider it the height of folly! You've always been able to afford whatever plaything you desired—"

"This is not a plaything, Mr. Hardy," she told him solemnly. "Do you think it can be arranged?"

He hesitated. "I—I might advance you the sum myself."

"That might be the right way, sir. If you would be so kind. "I'll arrange to give you my entire monthly check in that case. If you could let me have it at once, I should appreciate your giving me a check made out to Willoughby house, or rather sending it there."

The lawyer had opened a checkbook. With his finger on a blank sheet, he paused and gave her a startled glance of inquiry. "Did I understand you to say Willoughby house?"

"You did, I—I'm very much interested in that enterprise, Mr. Hardy."

He sat back in his chair with thoughtfully furrowed brows, regarding her with new and approving interest. "What's the story, Fabienne?"

She told him, sparing herself nothing, of her motives for going to Willoughby house in the beginning; of the promised gift that was not forthcoming; of Rose Riccio and her own feeling of responsibility.

"Don't look at me that way, Mr. Hardy," she said when she had xx8g a.HYvkiao utb h lau tuhpp finished the story. "There's nothing noble about me. Some things are written in black and white and nothing in the world can change them. This is one of the things. I'd like to change it, but I can't. I love living in luxury, and all my comforts are mighty important to me. Let's call that the white of that black and white. The black is"—she made a funny little face at him meant to indicate that she didn't like the idea at all—" plain duty. Something's been put up to me and I can't escape it."

"Well, well," the old man was thinking, "so there's someone in the family, after all, with something of old Elihu's stuff in her. He'd be pleased and proud."

Aloud he said, "Congratulations. Meanwhile, what are you going to live on? I understand that you live at an expensive hotel?"

"Did," she corrected. "I'm moving out. I've got a little money to live on for the next three months." She didn't explain the five hundred she'd got from Ned and which she intended to repay into the fund.

Hardy picked up a pen and began to write. He paused a moment and said, "Suppose I make a little gift of this money on my own?"

She shook her head, protesting, "This has to be on me, Mr. Hardy. Thank you just the same. If we need more, perhaps I'll call on you."

"Has to—er—be on you?"

"Yes. I don't think I can explain it, but I'll try. You see, I've got a new slant on—on life these days. It seems that sacrifices pay dividends that I've never experienced. I told you I was selfish. I am. I'm still trying to get new thrills for myself. I think this may be a way. And, incidentally, if there are any questions about where this check came from, will you please say that it came from a client who wishes to remain anonymous?"

"I will, my dear," Andrew Hardy said. "Also, I will see that the check is delivered by messenger at once."

After she had gone, he suddenremembered that he had forgotten to ask her new address. He wanted to see more of her. Elihu Willoughby had been one of his best friends.

Fabienne couldn't have given him an address. Her rent was paid at the hotel for another six days. After that, she hadn't the slightest idea where she was going to live.

Where did one live, and how did one live for four months on five hundred dollars?

Somewhere she'd read that one should pay a quarter of one's income for rent. A quarter of five hundred dollars spread over four months came to the sum of thirty-one dollars and twenty-five cents per month. What sort of a place could she find for that money? She shivered with distaste at the prospect.

And then she remembered with what high-handed dismissal she had received Ellen's proposal long ago that she come to live at some place Ellen said she could find for her.

With some girls, Fabienne would not have swallowed her pride and gone back for that very help. But Ellen was not like other girls. Asking a favor of Ellen would not mean swallowing her pride.

She went to Ellen after an afternoon's struggle with budgeting for the first time in her life.

"Ellen, I—I've got to economize for the next few months and I need some suggestions. I'm moving out of the Plaza—to where I do not know. Some place really inexpensive. I can't afford more than thirty-one dollars a month rent."

Ellen was immediately understanding and sympathetic. "You haven't lost—I mean—"

Fabienne smiled. "No, I haven't lost my income. I've made—made sort of an investment that keeps me stripped."

Quite unexpectedly, Ellen picked up a check and held it before Fabienne's gaze. "Would this be it?" she said. Fabienne had once told her that Andrew Hardy was the family lawyer.

Swift color painted Fabienne's face with embarrassment, giving her away completely. "Nonsense!" she said. "Do you think I'd do anything like that? What about the housing problem, Ellen?"

"Come and live with me, Fabienne. My place is cheaply rented, but it's quite big. I have a whole floor, you know. I'd like to have the kind of person you are living with me."

Fabienne experienced a series of reactions. Her first was delight; her second was a feeling of warning—if she lived fith Ellen, she would have to see a lot of Bill, who was Ellen's Bill. Then she remembered that she had to have some place to live.

She said, "Thanks, Ellen. I'd like to, but I'd have to be sure of absolute privacy. Could I have a tucked-away room somewhere?" Some place where she would not have to see Bill and Ellen together!

HANDLES ON DOUGHNUTS, PIPE WITH CAMERA INVENTORS' IDEAS

PHILADELPHIA—If the Inventors of America had their way, this country would be a better place in which to live.

Judging by the line-up of new gadgets, safety devices, amusements and aids to the housewife displayed at the Inventors' Exposition in Philedelphia, the present day Edisons are interested in comfort and ease.

Take John Dougherty of Chester, Pa., for instance. He whipped up a little attachment for a washing machine that is super-safe and at the same time speeds up the weekly wash. John's "Pitch-Them-On" is a conveyor that extends on both sides of the bottom roller of the wringer.

Made of rubber, the belt turns with the roller. With this attachment, he explained, there is no danger of getting caught in the wringer as the clothes are fed into the mangle by his invention.

Another handy piece of equipment to have around the house is a two section frying pan. The division in the middle makes it possible to fry two eggs at the same time, or if you must, scrable one and fry the other simultaneously.

Charlotte Jones of Greenwich, N. J., has solved the problem of how to get around looking at the same book-ends year after year. Her bookholders have frames on the outside so you can change the pictures at will.

Probably the most sensational departure in the food line is the three-cornered doughnut. Tabbed "Dunka-Donut," it is triangular in shape with a wooden handle baked right into the apex to facilitate dipping. Under this system, the cruller doesn't stand much chance of slipping through the fingers and getting drowned in a cup of coffee. It comes in eight different flavors.

Norwood Anderson, of New York, turned out a candid camera concealed in a pipe bowl. He thinks it would be a big help to newspaper photographers.

Brain child of Charles B. Granor, Philadelphia, is a safety device which automatically turns off the ignition and stalls the motor of an automobile if it turns over or is involved in an accident. These steps remove the fire hazard created when gasoline comes in contact with charged wires. The entire mechanism is about four inches square and can be readily installed in a machine.

Santa and the TALKING DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

THE STOBY SO FAR: Eric, the son of Lightning, and Leezen, a doll that can talk after midnight, come back to Santa's Toyshop with a girl, Elsa, they have rescued in the woods from some trolls.

CHAPTER EIGHT
To The King.

SANTA was acting very annoyed when Eric and Leezen came back to the Toyshop. He had been up all night looking for them. His hands and feet were cold from tramping through the snow. He was worried because he hadn't kept his promise to take Leezen to the King of Westphalia that night.

But his eyes nearly popped out when he saw the returning party.

"What, what—?" he spluttered in the doorway.

Eric swept off his blue cap, smiled mischievously and said, "Sire, we are back for breakfast."

"So I see," said Santa half tempted to laugh. "But you have upset me very much."

"We did not mean to, Sire."

"But—but—but, who is this girl?" asked Santa.

"Some one to help Mrs. Santa bake Christmas cookies," said Eric. So Elsa told Santa the story of what had happened. But Eric ran back to the first hill and picked up the sleeping Leezen very gently and carried her into the Toyshop and stood her up at the foot of the Christmas tree.

YOU ARE RIGHT

Santa watched him with an amused smile. "Eric, Eric," he said. "You are strong willed but it seems you are right, too. If I had found this girl I would have brought her here, too."

Eric bowed very low and said, "Thank you, Sire."

Santa smiled and said, "But tonight you must behave just as well. Tonight I shall take Leezen to the King of Westphalia. She was made for him by the fairies, and I cannot fail. Even though you think so much of her you must not interfere."

Eric tossed his hair and laughed. Santa, looking at him, couldn't help but pat him on the shoulder. So they sat down to breakfast and Elsa sat with them drinking great cups of hot chocolate.

But all that day Eric looked unhappy when he thought no one was watching. He tried to help the gnomes make trains again. But really he kept glancing up to see if Leezen was still there.

SEVEN SHINING DROPS

That night Santa really did take Leezen away. This is how it happened. Eric had dinner with Santa that night, but once when he looked way from the table a little fairy dropped seven shining drops from a tiny flask into his cup. When Eric had drunk it he fell into such a deep sleep it was a day and a night later when he woke.

That midnight Santa lifted Leezen gently into his sleigh and flew over the clouds and down the sky to the castle of the King of Westphalia. The King sat asleep by the fire. Candles burned in tall silver sticks. Quietly, as the clock struck twelve, Santa seated Leezen in a chair near the King, and tip-toed out.

The King stirred as the clock struck, and Leezen's blue eyes fluttered open. She saw the fair-haired King, half asleep, wipe a tear from his eye. She smiled and said quietly "Your Majesty, if your dreams are sad you can leave them by opening your eyes."

The King's blue eyes flew open with surprise. Then he closed them again. He said, "Please be comfortable. I am thinking." But he wasn't really. He was just shy. Too shy to talk to Leezen.

TOMORROW: Leezen runs away.

Santa seated Leezen in a chair near the King and tip-toed out.

REDS READY TO RESIGN LEAGUE; DELAY ANSWER

Deadline Nears for Reply to Offer of Mediation Sent From Geneva.

ported to have promised planes and the French guns to help the Finns.

Supplies Pledged.

The promises of aid were made, it was said, with the hope the Finns could hold out until supplies could be sent through Norway and Sweden.

Promises of munitions were backed up by the pledge of nitrate, wheat and beef from Latin American countries, which displayed a united front to declare Russia an aggressor and oust her from the league, should the mediation offer be rejected.

China alone appeared to observers to be the stumbling block to the Latin American group's avowed intention of ousting Russia from league membership.

Russian quarters apparently placed considerable hope on a negative vote by China.

Since the Chinese have depended upon Russia as a source of supplies in the Chinese-Japanese war, it was considered possible the Allies might offer material aid to China in return for support.

A four-point program sent to Moscow proposed that Finland and Russia suspend hostilities and begin peace negotiations under league sponsorship. It said Finland immediately accepted league mediation, and that the council had sent Finland's appeal for league action to the assembly.

In Helsinki, Finland, warnings were received by foreign quarters that the city of Helsinki might be subjected to new airplane bombardments on the first day of good weather.

The warnings came from non-Finnish sources. It was assumed that they were given in order that foreign citizens might have an opportunity to leave the city.

Finnish and Swedish mine patrols swept the waters of the Gulf of Bothnia, between Finland and Sweden, watching for Russian mine layers. It was believed that mine layers have approached or penetrated the Finnish-Swedish mine field around the Aaland islands.

CARDS RIGHT; DEATH COMES

Man Tells Daughter He'll Be Dead Soon; Called Suicide.

HIGH POINT, N. C. — (AP) — Otto Vierling, 56, of Dayton, O., last night told his 18-year-old daughter, Wander, he would be dead in two hours—and at about that time he was found dead of bullet wounds, police reported.

His body lay less than a block away from the dwelling of his divorced wife, whom he came to see two weeks ago after a 15-year separation. Coroner Wallace G. Freeman gave a verdict of suicide, and quoted the daughter as saying he predicted his death by telling his fortune with cards.

WEIGHS APPEAL IN BANK NIGHT

Higher Court To Give Ruling In Case Of Troy Theater.

TROY, O.—(U.P.)—The court of appeals today had under advisement the appeal from the decision of Judge R. L. Cameron, of Marysville, that "bank night" as operated by the Troy Amusement company is a lottery.

The appeal was made to enjoin Andrew Attenweiler from seizing the company's bank night equipment under a search warrant and to prove that the feature is not a lottery. No intimation was given as to when the decision will be announced.

BRICKER HEADS FAIR DIRECTORS

Jackson Township Man Succeeds Clem Till as President of Shelby Association.

SHELBY — Fred Bricker of Jackson township was elected president of the board of directors of the Shelby Community Street Fair association Monday night at the annual reorganization meeting in the K. of P. lodge hall.

Bricker succeeds Clem Till of Sharon township, who has held the presidency of the board since the fair association was organized in 1935. Bricker has been vice president of the board since its organization and has been active in promoting the farm exhibits and displays at the fair.

Other officers chosen at the meeting were Charles Keck, Mrs. Bessie Stevens, Charles Oberlin and J. P. Finnegan, vice presidents; Carl Wentz, secretary, and C. P. Monn, treasurer. Keck, Monn, Mrs. Stevens and Wentz were re-elected.

A report by Monn showed a balance of $51.55 in its funds. Last year the association had a balance of $168.26. The largest expenditures this year for the fair were the display and colt show premiums.

Finds Deer Antler in Tree After Accident 5 Years Ago.

CHICAGO—(AP)—One Christmas tree in a load received in suburban Elmwood park had a broken deer antler imbedded in its trunk but that didn't surprise the dealer, Carl Larson.

Larson said his brother, who raises evergreens near Tomahawk, Wis., saw a frightened deer run into that particular tree and leave its broken antler behind—five years ago!

DOUG FAIRBANKS DIES OF HEART ATTACK AT 55

Veteran of Screen Stricken Suddenly in Sleep After Short Illness.

Griffith in 1914 at the then dazzling salary of $2,000 a week.

Only a few hours before he succumbed he discussed with associates his plans to start production of a motion picture at United Artists studios.

He had hoped to produce the adventure picture to end all adventure pictures, with his son and namesake in the stellar role and with himself perhaps taking a minor part.

"It was to have been called 'The Californian'," reported Clarence Erickson, his manager, "and we were almost ready to start."

Saturday the handsome Fairbanks, looking perhaps 20 years younger than his actual age, joined 100,000 other football fans for the USC-UCLA game.

Called Mrs. Fairbanks.

Servants called Mrs. Fairbanks from her room—too late to see her husband alive—and then notified his relatives by phone.

Doug, jr., and his bride of a few months, arrived first. Then came Doug's brother, Robert, and his wife; Erickson, and two nieces of the Lochinvar of the silver screen. The family sat in the living room decorated with trophies from Doug's worldwide hunting expeditions.

"They can hardly think, it was so sudden," Erickson said. "We can't even begin to consider funeral arrangements yet."

Prior to his marriage to Lady Ashley he and his former wife, Mary Pickford, had reigned for a decade as the "king and queen" of Hollywood, from their castle, "Pickfair," a combination of their names, and there, most of the world's celebrities at one time or another had been entertained.

Fairbanks made his last movie, "Don Juan," in 1932, and since had devoted his interest to the producing end of the business.

He had entered the movies as a star in 1914, after a brief but successful stage career, and for his first role in D. W. Griffith's "The Lamb," he earned the then fabulous salary of $2,000 a week on a 10 weeks contract.

"The Lamb" was replete with leaping scenes, capitalizing on Fairbanks' already established fame in acrobatic roles on the stage, and he was typed quickly for an almost endless series of romantic-adventure movies. He leaped from cliffs, from balconies, parapets and house tops.

Fairbanks had been married three times. His only child, Douglas, jr., was by his first wife, Ann Beth Sully of Providence, also an actress, whom he married in 1907 and divorced in 1919, the year before he married Miss Pickford.

The second marriage lasted until Miss Pickford's divorce was granted Jan. 10, 1935. On March 7, 1936, in Paris, he married Lady Ashley, the former Sylvia Hawkes, a musical comedy actress whom Lord Ashley had divorced in 1935, naming Fairbanks as co-respondent.

Here's Deer---Who Shot It?

They don't know which one killed the deer, but E. C. Frampton, 660 Arlington avenue, and Fred Greenwood, 388½ Park avenue west, brought one home from Pennsylvania anyway. Both of them fired at the same time at the big buck, shown above, but only one hit. Neither knows which one, so they can both take credit for the kill. Frampton is on the right and Greenwood on the left of the deer, killed near Ridgeway, Pa.

carried placards which said: "we won't starve."

President Roosevelt yesterday approved expenditure of $1,248,991 for three Cleveland area WPA projects. These and other previously approved projects will provide more than 14,000 persons with six months' employment, WPA officials estimated.

In Toledo, the city council provided an additional $273,000 for poor relief and WPA sponsoring funds. The money will come from bonds issued against anticipated delinquent tax collections.

Commenting on Republican presidential possibilities in his Newark speech, Ickes said:

". . . . There is Senator Taft of Ohio who hopes that the American people have forgotten what happened to the country the last time that we tried to follow a Roosevelt with a Taft."

"Until the inhumanity in Cleveland, there was Gov. Bricker."

GUNMAN TAKES $50 IN GROCERY STORE HOLD-UP

Forces Proprietor Into Back Room After Forcing Him to Hand Over Money.

A lone gunman last night held up a south end grocery store taking $50 in bills from the proprietor at the point of a gun and then forced him into a back room while the gunman escaped.

The robbery of the Strong grocery store was one of several thefts reported to police during the past 24 hours with total loot amounting to $172.

Floyd Strong, proprietor of the store at 34 Chestnut street, called police shortly after 8 p. m. yesterday after he had been held up at the point of a gun.

Alone In Store.

Strong said he was alone in the store at the cash register when a well dressed man approached, drew a .32 caliber revolver and forced him to hand over the bills in the machine. He was then ordered into a back room where he waited several minutes before he called police. He said the bandit had left $10.35 in silver in the register.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shipley, 278 South Main street, told police that someone had entered their home sometime yesterday by using a skeleton key on the back door and had robbed them of $81 worth of jewelry and clothing. Two wrist watches valued at $35 each, a child's snow suit, three pairs of silk hose and two men's shirts were taken.

Mrs. Robert Bride, 9 Stocking avenue, reported her pocketbook containing $16.50 was stolen from the bedroom of a home she was visiting sometime Saturday evening. H. H. Domka, 129 South Adams street, lost a shotgun valued at $25 when it was stolen from his car which was parked on West Fourth street.
